

Chapter 1196 Enter The Secret Realm Again

As thoughts of his power flooded his mind, Liam suddenly felt an intense desire in his heart to become stronger.

Turning to look at his master, Liam asked, "Master, I believe you are aware of the Human Body Refinement Technique, right? There are some questions that I have regarding this. With my current condition, the outcome of any of my battles has been mainly determined by the special powers I have. And the strength that I am able to muster is also determined by the strength of my special powers."

After a pause, he added, "Besides that, I just tried to awaken the special power of the metal element, but I was unable to, failing just after I sensed the existence of that special power. Do you have any idea about what caused me to fail?"

In a single breath, Liam laid down all his doubts and questions.

After listening to these questions, his master smiled softly and replied directly, "Liam, you still fail to fully comprehend just how important one's physical body is. In fact, regardless of whether it is the primogem energy or the special energy that you have to worry about, you need to have a very strong body. It's only in this way that the primogem energy and the body will be able to complement each other and give you benefits that you couldn't access before."

He looked at Liam and continued, "As for your failure to awaken a new special power, it is simply because your physical strength is unable to provide you with the adequate support you need to awaken a new special power!"

Hearing this, Liam pressed his lips together and nodded slightly. He felt a bit discouraged. After all, he really wanted to awaken a new special power so that he would be able to face and defeat Adamson.

Clearing his throat to snap Liam back to reality, Liam's master continued, "Actually, I came to Mount Moria to see you because of this specific issue. Back when I arrived at Blue Star, the responsibility of making the local residents achieve the status of elite Primogem Warriors fell on me! In short, I had to enhance the overall strength of Blue Star! In the passage that I came here through, there's also an entrance that leads to a secret realm. This secret realm is specially designed for Primogem Warriors above the sixth rank. It is an excellent place for an individual to work on their limits and willpower."

After a pause, he continued, "If you are able to pass that secret realm, your strength will achieve a very significant boost. But then, you should be aware that passing that secret realm isn't an easy task. In fact, despite having worked so hard running the Salvation Society for quite a number of years, only a few Primogem Warriors have been able to reach the sixth rank within the set age. The last individual to successfully pass through the secret realm is none other than your senior, Carlden."

Liam was shocked when he heard this.

So there was another secret realm!

Moreover, this secret realm was unlike the secret realm of the Blood Clan. This one was only accessible to those who had reached the sixth rank or above.

This place sounded like it had been made specifically for him.

Liam's breath quickened for a moment.

Passing this secret realm would give his strength an immense boost, something that he was in dire need of.

Not really paying attention to Liam's reaction, his master continued, "This secret realm is located right behind Mount Moria. It's the very reason why Carlden settled down on Mount Moria. His goal is to keep the secret realm from being discovered or accessed by outsiders."

The moment he finished speaking, he opened the entrance to the secret realm. Looking at Liam, he reminded, "Liam, ensure that you don't forget all that I've told you. Do not try to rush things in this secret realm. I believe that the next time we meet, I'll be seeing a Liam that is completely different from the one standing in front of me right now."

With a nod, Liam's face became serious. Fixating his eyes on his master, he said firmly, "I assure you, master, I won't disappoint you. I will make you proud!"

With that, Liam turned toward the entrance of the secret realm and walked into it with his face filled with determination.

Upon entering, a feeling of dizziness enveloped him. After a while, his head became clear, and he opened his eyes to find himself in a place that seemed to be in clouds.

At first sight, it was clear to Liam that this place was highly illusory. Glancing around, Liam saw that there were just clouds and voids everywhere, except for a single path right in front of him.

This was a path to the sky!

Frowning slightly, Liam fixated his eyes on the path with stairs for quite a while, feeling more determined with each passing second.

Obviously, what he needed to do was to climb the stairs in front of him.
