

Chapter 1210 Unexpected Gift

Lancy swiftly remembered something as Liam described the Genmo, her gleaming eyes flashing with memories.

After all, the president's loss of the Genmo had happened just a few decades ago. It might seem like ages for most people, but for Lancy, it wasn't that long ago.

For her, those decades were just a brief moment.

"I do recall, indeed, decades ago a Genmo fell to the earth's core. But..." Lancy said, looking at Liam with a sense of embarrassment.

Liam, upon hearing news about the Genmo, couldn't contain his curiosity and promptly asked, "But what? Lancy, if you know something, please share it! That Genmo means a lot to me."

Lancy glanced at Flame and said, "Flame already ate the Genmo you're searching for."

This news struck Liam hard.

Was the Genmo, something he and his master both held in such high regard, really consumed by Flame?

Lancy sensed Liam's mood was not great, so she placed her hands on her hips, turned to Flame, and said, "Flame, apologize to Liam right now! It's your fault for being greedy!"

Seeing its master angry, Flame could only lower its head.

Lancy then looked at Liam apologetically and said, "I'm sorry. Flame was hungry for the Genmo, and I couldn't stop it. I didn't know it belonged to someone at the time."

Liam felt resigned, shaking his head and sighing. "It's alright..."

Regardless of Liam's reluctance, what could he do?

Despite her seemingly ordinary appearance, Lancy was actually the master of the Blue Star.

In front of the world master, what could he dare to do?

Also, he had gathered plenty of secrets from Lancy and even got hold of a bit of the Blue Star's World Power from her. That was a big win already.

Just as Liam was getting ready to head back to Mount Moria and report to his master, Flame, who had been quiet all along, suddenly spoke.

Liam was taken aback. He had underestimated Flame, thinking it was just a simple flame monster. But now, he realized Flame had been disguising itself.

Flame spat out a special stone from within itself, glowing with an orange-red light.

As the stone appeared, Liam felt an overwhelming energy surge.

Flame said, "This is a rare treasure of our magma beast Clan known as the magma crystal. This kind of thing only grows inside us once in the lives of our kind. No matter in terms of value or energy, the magma crystal outshines the Genmo by far!"

While speaking, a look of hesitation crossed Flame's eyes.

However, it still handed the magma crystal over to Liam.

Flame continued, "It was wrong of me to hurt you and consume your master's Genmo. I apologize. This magma crystal is my apology gift."

Suddenly, Liam found Flame quite adorable. At least, its demeanor didn't match its fierce appearance.

Liam accepted the magma crystal from Flame, gratefully saying, "Thank you!"

He then immediately began absorbing the crystal's energy right there.

His body now housed two forces of World Power. The protection provided was substantial, which emboldened Liam to absorb the energy of the magma crystal directly.

Liam had no concerns about any potential dangers.

Before Liam touched it, the magma crystal looked orange-red, but once he made contact, it transformed into a dazzling golden yellow!

At that moment, Liam sensed an intense heat emanating from his palm.

The heat was even more intense than the magma balls Flame had spewed out earlier.

However, since Flame had willingly released the crystal, it came without any violent or chaotic energy, making it safe for Liam.

Even though the blazing heat was almost unbearable for Liam, he managed to endure the pain with the strength of his own body and the two forces of World Power within him.

While absorbing the magma crystal's power, Liam closely examined his internal state.

He noticed that the Blue Star's World Power, given to him by Lancy, had integrated into the white vortex inside him.

After the Blue Star's World Power merged with the white vortex, it became a smaller black vortex.

From this, Liam understood that his father's self-world was significantly more powerful than the Blue Star!
