

Chapter 1214 Impressed

Using his skills, Liam cornered Carlden, who was visibly taken aback.

Carlden's eyes widened in shock.

He hadn't expected Liam to be so powerful.

However, Carlden didn't think he would lose to him. His mastery of spatial power, which could counteract Liam's special power of the light element, gave him an edge.

By manipulating his special power of the space element, Carlden could nullify Liam's light special power and seize control of the battle.

But Liam was not solely dependent on his special power of the light element.

When Carlden bent the light with his special power of the space element, Liam called upon his Lightning Wings.

With a powerful thrust, Liam ascended and pursued Carlden.

Furthermore, the giant that Liam had left on the ground lent its strength to Liam, accelerating his pursuit.

As Liam approached Carlden, a dark aura enveloped him.

This aura quickly condensed and unleashed a dense, malicious force in every direction, revealing the Malicious Aura Domain Liam had learned.

Under the influence of Liam's Malicious Aura Domain,

Carlden's movements slowed significantly.

For the first time, Carlden felt a pressure from Liam that he hadn't anticipated. He was taken aback by Liam's mastery of such a complex skill.

Observing the fight from a distance, the president was also shocked.

He couldn't help but mutter, "This young man possesses the makings of a great lord. Impressive!"

As Liam's power intensified, Carlden felt a growing pressure and knew he could not afford to hold back, especially as Liam's senior.

The thought of defeat was too humiliating to consider.

With renewed seriousness, Carlden used the Origin Technique he had perfected, ready to deliver a devastating blow to Liam by warping the space around them.

As Carlden's formidable aura escalated suddenly, Liam realized he was about to face his opponent's full force.

A wave of nervousness washed over him, as he had never before clashed with an opponent as powerful as Carlden.

Determined, Liam drew his Shadow Sword, positioning it with precision in front of him, ready to counter Carlden's Origin Technique.

Carlden's attack descended on the Shadow Sword, failing to meet Carlden's expectations of a swift defeat for Liam.

The majority of the attack's force was absorbed by Liam's armor. The remaining force merely pushed Liam back, causing no significant harm.

This unexpected outcome astonished both Carlden and the president, who could no longer conceal their surprise at the extraordinary nature of Liam's Shadow Sword.

However, their astonishment was devoid of envy. Instead, they were proud of Liam.

Liam continued to fight Carlden, bolstered by his armor and sword.

Despite not being able to inflict damage on Carlden, Liam was also unbeaten.

It seemed that it was difficult to determine the winner between the two in a short time.

Carlden's elusive spatial powers made it difficult for him to be hit by Liam's attack, which rendered him nearly invincible.

Empowered by his armor and sword, Liam's defensive and offensive capabilities were also formidable, making him nearly as invincible as Carlden.

The president observed their duel with deep admiration, their prowess extending beyond a hundred rounds until he finally intervened, declaring a halt.

At the president's command, Liam and Carlden ceased their battle, exchanging smiles of mutual respect.

Approaching Liam, the president praised, "Liam, well done! You exceed every expectation! I'm fortunate to mentor you and Carlden! With your current capabilities, facing the Lord of the War God House should pose no significant challenge. All preparations are complete. We merely need to await the decisive day. We have fulfilled our duties. The destiny of Blue Star now hinges on your final performance."
