

Chapter 1227 Searching

Observing Yolanda's frenzied expression and her outburst, Shayla and the others concluded that the woman before them was probably crazy.

Despite this, they chose not to abandon Yolanda.

Yolanda had acknowledged knowing Liam, which piqued their interest, even though they were unclear about her relationship with Liam. They resolved to take her with them for the time being.

Shayla asked, "Do you know where Julie and Asher are? Where has Rohan imprisoned them? We've come to rescue you!"

As Shayla's words hung in the air, Laura and Maureen fixed their gazes on Yolanda, eagerly anticipating her response.

What they hadn't anticipated was Yolanda's reaction.

Upon hearing Shayla's inquiry, a manic glint flickered in Yolanda's eyes. She erupted in anger, shouting, "Julie is a bitch! It's all her fault! She stole my man!"

Yolanda's sudden tirade left Shayla and the others momentarily dumbfounded.

Despite their unanswered question, the three of them didn't stop pressing for answers. Laura approached Yolanda, her gaze intense and pleading. "We're not sure what transpired between you and Julie," she began. "But we risked everything to enter the Duncan family because we want to save you all. That's what Liam wants. So, if you know anything about Julie and Asher, please, we need you to share it with us!"

As Yolanda listened, the wild look in her eyes seemed to fade. She replied with a calmer demeanor, "I have met Asher. He's a good kid. Unfortunately, since Rohan captured him, he has been suffering. I remember that he's being held in a basement, though I can't recall the exact location."

Upon hearing this, Shayla and the others exchanged looks, silently concluding that Yolanda had no reason to deceive them. They decided to search the basement to find Asher.

However, they were also aware of Yolanda's fragile mental state.

Leaving her behind could risk attracting the Duncan family's attention. If that happened, not only could Yolanda's safety be compromised, but their presence here would also be discovered.

After a brief discussion, Shayla said, "I'll stay and look after her. Laura, Maureen, go ahead and find Julie and Asher. Once you've rescued them, let's meet up here!"

Laura and Maureen agreed with a nod. It made sense for Shayla to stay behind and care for Yolanda.

After all, Shayla was known to be the most impulsive one among them. The condition of Tyler's body moments ago had revealed Shayla's true nature.

With the roles assigned, Laura and Maureen left to search for Asher.

The Duncan family's property was vast, and even with a detailed map obtained beforehand, it took them nearly an hour to locate a series of basements.

Along the way, they dodged the Duncan family's patrols and eventually sneaked into the laboratory.

However, there were a lot of underground labs here, so Laura and Maureen searched many times. Finally, they found some clues in a lab full of human bodies.

Laura and Maureen exchanged glances, then surveyed the lab before nodding subtly.

Silently, they crept deeper into the laboratory.

Their cautious approach paid off as they soon picked up snippets of a conversation nearby.

Listening intently, their hearts surged with hope.

Because the conversation between the two individuals involved Asher!

This was clear evidence that Asher was being held here. Even if things didn't turn out exactly as they had suspected, they could still capture these two people and press them for information on Asher's and Julie's whereabouts.

The individuals engaged in conversation were none other than Rohan, head of the Duncan family, and his subordinate, a doctor.

Rohan said, "I'm extremely pleased with how the experiment turned out. It's not just me. The higher-ups are also impressed with your decision to send Liam's son to the Cosmic realm for the Blood Clan after altering his body! I'm here on orders from the supervisors to invite you to join the Blood Clan's base as a Primogem equipment maker! Doctor, your future is looking bright! By the way, you even get to bring a company. I've always treated you well these years, right?"

It was clear from his words that Rohan intended for the doctor to bring him to the Blood Clan's base.

Understanding the implication, the doctor responded with a smile, "Rest assured, Mr. Duncan! Your family has supported my research for years. The partnership between you and me has always been in perfect harmony!"

This prompted a hearty laugh from Rohan.

They had already started dreaming about their new lives in the Cosmic realm, all thanks to the Blood Clan's support.

Besides, they had advanced further in their plans than even the Holy Lord of the Saint Society!

This realization filled them with immense satisfaction.

Meanwhile, Maureen and Laura were shocked and angry upon hearing Rohan's words.

To their dismay, Rohan had already sent Liam's child, Asher, to the Cosmic realm.

They were too late!

Overcome with rage, Maureen and Laura could no longer remain hidden.

They came out from their hiding spot and moved swiftly towards Rohan and the doctor, overpowering them with their combined strength.

With a stern expression, Maureen demanded in a low, cold voice, "What have you done to Asher? Did you really send him to the Cosmic realm?"
