

Chapter 1230 Burning Blood Drug

Shayla and her friends felt down after letting Rohan slip away and failing to find Julie and Asher.

Meanwhile, on Genesis Island.

A fierce battle raged between the Salvation Society and the Saint Society.

The Holy Lord of the Saint Society, confident in the superior numbers of his people and their strength, believed victory was assured.

Little had he anticipated that the Golden Guardian of the Saint Society would betray him all of a sudden.

Golden Guardian conjured an indestructible spear made of gold using his special power.

He swiftly thrust it through the heart of Cillian, the weakest guardian.

He had been a spy in the Saint Society all along.

When Golden Guardian attacked, Carlden seized the opportunity.

He delivered a fatal blow to another guardian nearby.

Known as one of the top warriors in the Saint Society, Carlden effortlessly succeeded in his attack.

In moments, the Saint Society lost two guardians, and Carlden and Golden Guardian quickly joined the Salvation Society, signaling the start of the war.

In moments, the Saint Society lost two guardians, and Carlden and Golden Guardian quickly joined the Salvation Society, signaling the start of the war.

After witnessing the swift loss of four guardians, the Holy Lord's realization struck hard. The gap in strength between his organization and the Salvation Society had narrowed significantly. His face contorted with rage, and a thunderous roar escaped his lips.

"Attack! Annihilate them all!"

With those words hanging in the air, the Holy Lord ascended into the sky, ready to engage in a desperate battle against the president.

Both of them were formidable Primogem Warriors at the peak of level nine.

Their battle's energy waves would be destructive because of their powerful strength.

This could affect many level-eight Primogem Warriors, and it was even possible that it could shatter the organs of weaker level-eight warriors.

The Holy Lord and the president fought fiercely, their powers evenly matched.

Their long history of battles had given each of them an intimate knowledge of the other's abilities.

Yet, the president had endured significant injuries when Orlando, the Lord of the War God House, had betrayed the Salvation Society. His wounds, still fresh, had not fully healed, leaving him weakened.

This lingering weakness put him at a disadvantage in the fight. For masters, even a slight misstep could be deadly, and the president wasn't at his strongest.

The Holy Lord of the Saint Society capitalized on this weakness, launching relentless attacks.

At the same time, he taunted the president, his words meant to provoke. "Just give up already! Even if we lose contact with the outside world, your Salvation Society will never surpass us! Are you really going to let your people die for this? I'll give you credit for planting spies in my organization. But do you think it will change anything? Once I finish you off, your Salvation Society is doomed!"

Hearing the Holy Lord's taunts, the president's expression turned grim, but he ignored him.

He remained silent, focusing on his next move. With a sharp breath, he counterattacked.

His palm strike formed a massive, ethereal print in the sky.

It then surged towards the Holy Lord with unstoppable force, so powerful that even Unbroken Cloud couldn't have withstood it.

Yet when confronted with the president's palm strike, the Holy Lord just sneered and retaliated with a punch. The impact of his fist swiftly condensed, shattering the palm print into fragments!

Instantly, the palm print turned to pieces in the air, its primogem energy dispersing, even causing ripples in the surrounding space.

Suddenly, the Holy Lord counterattacked, his form blurring as he swiftly materialized behind the president.

With lightning speed, the president swiftly reacted and darted into the distance to evade the Holy Lord's attack.

At level nine, the clash among Primogem Warriors transcended the skirmishes seen among their lower-level counterparts, considering that they could potentially suffer serious injury if struck.

Unlike the aerial clash, the battle between the Saint Society and the Salvation Society on the ground descended into utter chaos.

Within the Saint Society, aside from Unbroken Cloud, there was another formidable level-nine guardian.

Luckily for the Salvation Society, they had a level-nine elder to counterbalance this powerful foe.

Meanwhile, Carden faced off alone against two level-eight Primogem Warriors from the Saint Society.

Carden's exceptional strength and combat prowess among the level-eight Primogem Warriors allowed him to hold his ground during the fight.

The other Salvation Society masters struggled to hold their ground.

This clash with the Saint Society was more than just a battle. It was a decisive fight for the fate of Blue Star.

Should the Salvation Society falter, Blue Star would inevitably slip into the clutches of the Saint Society.

So every member of the Salvation Society fought with unwavering determination.

Their goal wasn't annihilation of the Saint Society, but rather to repel their adversaries at any cost.

The battlefield erupted into a maelstrom of violence, intensifying with every passing moment. Limbs lay scattered across the field, a grim testament to the brutality of the fight. The battleground had transformed into a harrowing purgatory of chaos and despair.

Amidst the tense battlefield, the Holy Lord in the sky suddenly erupted into wild, hysterical laughter.

The president's brow furrowed as he observed the Holy Lord's sudden descent into madness. An ominous feeling gripped him at that moment.

True to his intuition, the Holy Lord immediately shouted, "Consume the Burning Blood Drug bestowed by the Blood Clan!"

Upon the Holy Lord's command, every member of the Saint Society retrieved small, dark red vials from their pockets and hastily consumed the drug within.

Upon consuming the drug, the power of every Saint Society member surged, bolstering their strength by nearly twenty percent!

This sudden enhancement posed a dire threat to the Salvation Society.

The president and Carden watched the scene, their eyes filled with profound concern.
