

Chapter 1278 Chad Again

As the spectators gathered under the arena erupted in a loud cheer following a moment of silence.

The audience, now raspy from excitement, chanted Liam's name, clearly mesmerized by his string of victories against formidable opponents at the Primogem King level.

Amid the raucous applause, Liam maintained his composure.

Equipped with a wealth of treasures and with his talent rated at the "Legendary" level, he was not surprised by his triumphs.

Upon securing his second consecutive victory, Liam reviewed his score and noted an addition of 200 points, increasing his total points earned in the arena to 300.

A win in the next match promised an extra 300 points, which could ensure his ascent to the prestigious third-level authority.

Driven by a rush of anticipation, Liam resolved to face more challengers in the arena. It wasn't long before he was faced with his opponent for the third round.

Yet, this contender confused Liam.

To his surprise, it was Chad, the very opponent he had just defeated.

This time, Chad had now progressed to level-ten with three stars.

Liam now realized that the arena's selection of challengers was not based on recurring competitors but was orchestrated by the organizers for each round.

Chad was visibly displeased. Clearly, he was holding a grudge about his earlier defeat.

He said to Liam, "I was just not cautious enough last time, letting you sneak attack me! This time, I'm prepared. You won't be able to do that anymore!"

Armed with new battle armor designed to thwart any unforeseen attacks, Chad was better prepared this time.

As the match commenced, Chad, glowing with a bright aura and brandishing his sword, charged at Liam once again.

Observing Chad's resolute charge, Liam merely smiled and shook his head.

This time, before Chad could launch an attack, Liam made his move.

Employing his light elemental special power along with the potent lava Origin Technique, he initiated a forceful strike.

Despite a two-star difference in their strengths, Liam's skill set overwhelmed Chad.

His light elemental special power could erupt within his opponent's body, slicing through Chad's armor with ease.

Once again, Chad was swiftly defeated.

Unexpectedly, Chad displayed no signs of frustration. Instead, he regarded Liam with a look of satisfaction. Before exiting the arena, he confidently declared, "Liam, I've deciphered some of your tactics. Next time we fight,

Chapter 1278 Chad Again
it'll be your turn to lose."

 +120 Points at most

Liam was momentarily startled by Chad's assertion.

It appeared that Chad was suggesting they would clash again in the upcoming fourth round.

Before Liam could seek clarification, Chad was escorted off the arena.

Liam's point total was at 600 now.

The arena system prompted Liam to make a decision on whether to proceed. Opting to continue, Liam readied himself for the next round.

When he saw who had stepped forward as his next adversary, Liam frowned.

It was Chad once again.

In fact, Chad, along with Everett, served as an assessor at the Human Sovereign Arena.

Their true prowess was on par with the Primogem King level.

But for the purposes of the arena fights, their capabilities were adjusted to align with those of a Primogem Warrior. Despite this, their skill and power significantly surpassed those of their contemporaries.

Their involvement in the arena was to identify and nurture emerging talents within the Human Clan.

Chad's repeated appearances in the arena underscored his recognition of Liam's potential.

Naturally, he wouldn't tell Liam this now.

Chapter 1278 Chad Again

 +120 Points at most

He was eager to test whether Liam could rise to the challenge of his newly advanced level-ten four-star strength.

Our ads aim to provide better support for authors.

 I want no ads >