Chapter 1280 The Big Shots All Arrived

After his third defeat by Liam, Chad retreated from the arena, his spirit crushed.

Overwhelmed with frustration, he was on the verge of tears.

Initially, he had thought Liam's victories were due to his cunning use of light elemental special power and the formidable lava Origin Technique.

However, Liam had now shattered those assumptions with undeniable evidence.

It turned out that what Chad had seen from Liam previously was merely the tip of the iceberg.

This realization was difficult for Chad to accept.

After all, he was a powerhouse at the Primogem King level.

Even though the Human Sovereign Arena had suppressed his power to level ten with four stars, he remained incredibly formidable.

Yet, he still couldn't defeat a level-ten one-star Primogem Warrior.

Chad struggled to accept this, feeling deeply humiliated.

It seemed as if his Primogem King status was meaningless!

When Liam defeated Chad with a single move again, he secured his fourth victory in the arena.

The top figures of the Rosefinch Galaxy were in a state of commotion.

These eminent figures had become acquainted with Liam, the prodigious genius, through an introduction by the Lord of Rosefinch.

Since Liam had signed up for the arena task, they had been monitoring his progress closely.

Now, after witnessing Liam defeat Chad three times, all the big shots were astounded.

It had been a long time since anyone had overcome such a vast power disparity to achieve consecutive victories.

Moreover, Chad, when he was a Primogem Warrior, was known for fighting above his level.

However, Liam had not only defeated Chad consecutively, but from his performance, it also seemed he was far from reaching his limit.

The elite figures of the Rosefinch Galaxy were taken aback and quickly made their way to the arena to see Liam's battles firsthand.

Among them, some were eager to recruit Liam into their ranks, while others simply wished to forge a good connection with Liam.

Just seconds after Liam's victory over Chad, individuals radiating powerful auras appeared in the spectator seats below the arena.

Their presence was marked by the raw power they wielded, and their auras were as deep and vast as the ocean.

The shift in the atmosphere was palpable, and the

Those in the audience who recognized these influential figures erupted in cheers of surprise.

Among them, Cecil was both shocked and thrilled.

He had never imagined that his efforts to get closer to Liam would lead to this.

Cecil now felt breathless with excitement.

As the top figures focused their attention on Liam, Cecil couldn't help but feel envious.

"Mr. Ellis!"

"The Lord of Rosefinch! He is here!"

The most important figures arrived—the revered Christos Ellis and the Lord of Rosefinch, Caden Zaltan.

Caden held the highest authority in the Rosefinch Galaxy, while Christos represented the Sanctuary of Human Sovereign.

Among the elite of the Human Clan, these two were at the top.

However, they were now engaged in a quiet argument, seemingly unconcerned with maintaining their dignified images.

Caden snorted dismissively and said, "Christos! How many times must I remind you? Liam is from my Rosefinch Galaxy, not your Sanctuary of Human Sovereign! He must remain in the Rosefinch Galaxy and cannot join your side!"

Christos was unwilling to give up.

He had initially backed off from recruiting Liam after the Citadel Guardian of the City of Divinity had intervened.

However, witnessing Liam's exceptional performance in the arena task had rekindled his desire to recruit him.

So now, Christos was once again intent on bringing Liam into his fold.

He said, "Old man, Liam is not your personal property. What gives you the right to dictate his future?"

Caden, infuriated by Christos' audacity, his face reddening, retorted, "Christos, how can you be so shameless! When did I ever claim Liam was my personal property?"

Christos, seizing the moment, countered, "Then why did you assume the authority to make decisions for Liam?"

Upon hearing this, Caden felt resigned.

Christos continued, "I've met Liam before, and he thinks highly of me! Old man, you simply cannot match that. Besides, bringing him into the Sanctuary of Human Sovereign would benefit him. Why are you so resistant?"

Stumped by Christos' argument, Caden could only wave his sleeve in anger and mutter, "All I will say is Liam will never join the Sanctuary of Human Sovereign!"

Christos snapped back, "We'll just see about that!"

While the two argued, many other top figures from the Sanctuary of Human Sovereign and Star Lords from various planetary systems in the Rosefinch Galaxy had also gathered.

They didn't engage in any quarrels.

Given the top authorities were already fighting for Liam, these people did not dare vie for Liam's allegiance.

Their intentions were straightforward.

They were eager to witness the extent of Liam's capabilities, as he was the most extraordinary talent to emerge in years.
