

Chapter 1377 Despair

Liam's heart was ablaze with rage as he witnessed Julio and Jeremias plotting treachery against their own kind. He wanted to kill them.

However, his weak state left him grounded. He was only able to shout furiously, "Julio, Jeremias! You bastards! If you have a grievance, confront me directly! How dare you exploit the misfortunes of others? I will not let you escape justice!"

Julio turned to face Liam, his expression one of mockery. "Think you're the hero here? You're the reason my brother and I got kicked out by those two. You're to blame for all this! If you hadn't interfered, we wouldn't have encountered those lethal Titan Bugs!"

Liam felt a wave of disgust as the blame was squarely placed on him. His animosity towards the Ellis brothers peaked, yet powerless, he could only watch their heinous plans unfold.

At that moment, Liam desperately wished for the World Power his father had given him to invigorate him.

However, since the Heart of Life fragment had been depleted within him, that World Power remained dormant.

Lindy and Annabella were engulfed in despair, realizing their downfall would come at the hands of their own kind rather than the Titan Bugs.

Accepting such a fate was crushing.

Julio and Jeremias savored the despair etched on everyone else's faces, their perverse joy peaking. With a lascivious smirk, Julio grabbed Lindy's hand and declared, "Stop resisting! The game is over. None of you are leaving here alive. After we're finished with you two, we'll kill every one of you! There will be no survivors to tell people what happened. You're all ours!"

He then violently tore at Lindy's clothes, baring her skin.

Her primogem energy and law power suppressed by Julio, Lindy was defenseless against his advances.

Julio looked at Lindy's chest, his grin widening. "Didn't expect you to be so sexy. I'm eager to see the scene under your bra now!"

As Lindy's body shivered, she mustered what little strength she had to resist.

However, her efforts were futile against Julio.

As Julio was about to take off Lindy's underwear, Lindy closed her eyes in despair, ready to end her own life by biting her tongue.

Julio gripped Lindy's neck, laughing wildly as he started to take off his pants. "Thinking of ending your life now? Go ahead! Even if you die, I'll still rape you! I'm the one calling the shots around here!"

Lindy's face was streaked with tears. The vile prospect of being violated, even post-mortem, ignited intense hatred within her.

Still, she couldn't stomach the idea of living even after being raped by Julio and decided it was better to end her life.

Just as Lindy was on the brink of surrendering to her despair, a chilling voice sliced through the chaos.

"Who told you that you are the one calling the shots here?"

This unexpected interruption startled everyone.

As they turned their heads, they saw two figures approaching.

