

Chapter 1378 So Weak

Julio's and Jeremias's expressions shifted the instant they noticed someone arriving on the scene, their hearts pounding with unease.

Uncertain of the newcomers' capabilities, they hastily tried to defuse the tension.

"Gentlemen, you've misunderstood us. I was simply venting at that woman Lindy, not targeting anyone else. You're welcome to join us to rape these two women here. They've got great bodies!"

At that moment, Lindy and her friends felt their hearts race.

Lindy and Annabella, in particular, were terrified that these newcomers might be swayed by Julio and drag them into a worse situation.

However, relief washed over Liam as he recognized the faces of the newcomers.

They were Chad and Everett, whom he had contacted just the day before.

Chad, his face showing no emotion and his tone icy, responded to Julio, "I'm not interested in women, but I do take pleasure in killing trash like you."

Upon hearing this, Julio and Jeremias quickly understood that Chad and Everett were there to help Lindy.

Julio's expression darkened, and he said, "So, you've decided to meddle in our affairs? Well, if that's your choice, don't blame us for being unfriendly. Leave now while we're still in a good mood, and we'll forget this ever happened."

Julio deliberately withheld his true capabilities, hoping to intimidate Chad and Everett into backing down.

However, his plan failed.

Everett, known for his directness, immediately became incensed by Julio's attempt to intimidate him. He shouted, "Screw you! You two bastards! How dare you think of attacking your own kind in this place? I despise someone despicable like you! I'll kill you tonight!"

As the tension peaked, Jeremias let go of any pretense, his features hardening into a cold, menacing expression. He sneered, "You think you can intimidate me without demonstrating your strength? I've been polite only to avoid unnecessary trouble. Since you are eager for a showdown, you won't be seeing tomorrow's sunrise! I'm going to—"

Before Jeremias could finish his threat, Everett, overwhelmed by anger, acted swiftly.

At the seventh stage of Primogem King, he unleashed a powerful slap.

The impact shattered Jeremias' primogem energy shield and struck his head with tremendous force.

Almost instantly, a resounding bang filled the air as Jeremias' head exploded into a bloody mist, the result of Everett's formidable slap.

However, Everett's fury did not wane. He seized the remnants of Jeremias' body and, channeling his primogem energy, ground it into fragments as effortlessly as a meat grinder processing chunks of meat.

After that, Everett's expression softened slightly. He looked down at the remains with disdain, spat on them, and muttered, "Pathetic trash! I thought you could take a hit since you spoke to me like that. It turns out you're so weak!"

Our ads aim to provide better support for authors.

