

Chapter 1399 The Evolution Of The Sword Of Darkness

After his initial shock subsided, Liam resolved to absorb all the dark substances swirling within the magical circle.

If the King of the Titan Bugs himself was so deeply driven by selfish desires, Liam was certain that even more formidable enemies lurked within the Titan Bugs' territory.

It became clear that the passage needed to be destroyed.

Fortunately, the sword of darkness lived up to its expectations. It furiously devoured all the dark substances within the magical circle. Then, much to everyone's astonishment, the magical circle, which had seemed indestructible earlier, began to visibly shake.

Moments later, tiny fissures started to spread across the surface of the magical circle; the magical circle was no longer as solid as it once had been.

Once all the dark substances within the magical circle were absorbed by the sword of darkness, the magical circle began to wither before everyone's eyes.

The magical circle, originally crafted from rare and powerful metals, became completely weathered now that it was no longer fed by the dark substances. Without hesitation, Liam walked over and gave it a sharp kick. The once-mighty magical circle immediately disintegrated, turning into a pile of dust on the ground.

Everyone stood frozen, stunned by the scene before them.

It was unbelievable that the magical circle, which had appeared almost indestructible before, couldn't last even a moment against Liam's sword of darkness.

Even Liam was a bit surprised. However, he was more astonished by the sheer magnitude of the dark substances contained within the magical circle. It had taken the sword of darkness a considerable amount of time to absorb them completely.

With a satisfied smile, Liam lifted the sword of darkness before his eyes, carefully examining the extent of its transformation now that it had absorbed all the dark substances within the magical circle.

The sword of darkness did not let Liam down, it immediately started to transform.

Everyone present suddenly felt a shift in the atmosphere—a sharp, unexplainable force swept through the area, seemingly materializing from nothing.

The sword of darkness had completed its evolution!

The sword of darkness had advanced from a semi-mystic-grade weapon to a true mystic-grade weapon.

The power of the sword of darkness had become so intense that just the sight of it was enough to cause a deep, soul-piercing pain in ordinary people.

Everett was left stunned by the evolution of the sword of darkness. After regaining his composure, he walked over to Liam's side and gently traced his fingers along the blade of the sword of darkness.

However, despite the gentleness of his touch, the blade sliced his palm, leaving a bleeding wound.

When Everett saw blood seeping from his palm, he was shocked.

He couldn't believe that by merely touching the sword of darkness, he was wounded.

After all, he was a Seven-Fase Primogem King and possessed a terrifying level of bodily defense.

Lewis watched in stunned silence as blood dripped from Everett's hand. A wave of shock washed over him.

Just moments earlier, Lewis had been tempted to touch the sword of darkness himself. Fortunately, Everett had acted before he could do anything.

Upon realizing what could have happened to him, Lewis turned to look at Liam, his face reflecting sheer astonishment.

"Liam, how could your weapon evolve?" he asked.

After all, in the entire Cosmic realm, there had never been a prior instance of a weapon or armor evolving.

Thus, upon discovering that the sword of darkness had transformed after absorbing the dark substances, Lewis was deeply shocked.

Liam's sword of darkness was an extremely rare treasure.

Liam just smiled in response to Lewis' question, choosing not to offer any explanation.

Even Liam wasn't completely certain about where the sword of darkness originated from. His knowledge about the sword of
