

Chapter 1411 The Task For Liam

In the City of Divinity, the City Lord had already learned through the Network of Human Sovereign that Liam was eager to take on tasks for more points.

Consequently, he instructed Christos and Caden to find a suitable task for Liam.

Faced with the City Lord's order, Caden and Christos could not refuse. Therefore, they drew close together, poring over the extensive information on tasks and discussed the matter thoroughly.

Ten minutes later, Caden looked up and said to the City Lord, "Christos and I have reviewed everything. Unfortunately, there's nothing suitable for Liam among these tasks. However, I have a special task that is perfect for him."

The City Lord, furrowing his brow, responded, "Don't leave me in suspense. Just tell me what the task is."

With a chuckle, Caden said, "Liam has grown strong. Given his strength and luck, I believe he could now venture into the Secret realm we've discussed before. What do you think?"

Upon hearing this, the City Lord pondered for a moment.

Then, he replied, "Okay. But let's ensure it's safe before issuing the task. We must prioritize Liam's safety!"

Caden, with a serious expression, nodded and said, "Don't worry about that. I know what to do."

If observers at the Celestial Palace witnessed this exchange, they would doubt their own eyes.

Even though Caden and Christos weren't as powerful as the City Lord,

If observers at the Celestial Palace witnessed this exchange, they would doubt their own eyes.

Even though Caden and Christos weren't as powerful as the City Lord, they were influential figures in the Rosefinch Galaxy.

The City Lord's power was also beyond question.

The three people here were among the top ten Human Sovereigns of the Human Clan!

Yet, they were going out of their way to arrange a suitable task for a young man like Liam!

Such a scene was bound to astonish anyone.

Liam had entered the hall of task distribution at the same time.

Standing before the task selection machine, he sifted through the options, weighing the difficulty of each task against its potential rewards. His goal was to select the most cost-effective option.

Despite his efforts, he couldn't find a task that appealed to him.

The available rewards weren't enough for him to unlock level-five clearance, as he still needed two thousand points to reach that milestone.

The rewards from a level-four task were decent, but he would need to complete at least four tasks to accumulate the necessary points.

Liam sighed. He hadn't expected it to be so difficult for him to find a suitable task.

He muttered, "It looks like I'll have to start with some easier tasks. The rewards aren't great, but completing enough of them should help me gather the points I need."

Resigned to spending more time on small tasks, Liam understood that he had no choice.

After all, he couldn't predict when a special task or an urgent task would arise. Both types of tasks were rare.

However, as Liam was about to accept a random task, a voice suddenly resonated in his mind.
