

Chapter 1412 Exploring The No. 396 Planetary System

Liam had been anticipating a special mission, and when it finally arrived, he eagerly reviewed the details.

Special Mission: Explore Planetary System No. 396.

Objective: Discover the root cause of the changes in Planetary System No. 396.

Hint: Twenty years ago, Planetary System No. 396 unexpectedly divided into two distinct zones—one gray and one white—due to unknown reasons. The gray zone is devoid of life, a desolate forbidden area, while the white zone thrives with abundant life energy.

Duration: Ten days. Failure to determine the cause of the transformation within ten days of accepting the mission will result in a penalty of 2,000 points.

Reward: Base of 1,000 mission points, with an additional hidden reward based on performance.

After carefully reading the mission specifics and potential rewards, Liam gave a slight nod.

The promise of 1,000 special points for the base reward, along with a hidden bonus, was compelling.

Despite the steep penalty of 2,000 points for failure, Liam was confident he would complete the mission successfully.

He was captivated by the stark contrast of the two areas described in the mission—one area brimming with life, the other a barren wasteland.

Such a phenomenon was unheard of, and had he not seen it listed in the special mission, he would have doubted its existence.

Having accepted the mission, Liam dismissed these thoughts.

He used the special mission's teleportation array to travel to the No. 396 planetary system.

The planetary system was located a considerable distance from the main city. Even with the teleportation array, the journey took Liam half an hour.

Upon arrival, Liam surveyed his surroundings.

The planetary system presented an eerily quiet landscape. Besides himself, Liam found that there wasn't a single soul in sight.

This level of solitude was unprecedented for Liam in any mission, striking him as particularly odd.

It seemed as if the task had been specifically assigned to him alone by the Network of Human Sovereign.

Yet, Liam didn't think too much about this. His main goal was to complete the mission, not to speculate on the peculiarities of how tasks were assigned.

Unbeknownst to Liam, this special mission had been reserved for him by Caden, designed for Liam to undertake alone.

If Liam managed to navigate the Secret realm successfully, that would be great. However, if he failed to complete the mission within ten days, Caden planned to open the Secret realm to the entire younger generation of the Human Clan.

Given Liam's demonstrated talent and potential in cultivation, it was natural for him to receive special attention from figures like Caden and the City Lord.

After all, a genius was a rare find, and wherever they were, they were bound to receive special treatment.

Any potential envy regarding Liam's special status would be swiftly quelled by the City Lord.

Upon Liam's arrival in the No. 396 planetary system, the City Lord and his people were already tracking his progress via the Network of Human Sovereign.

Caden, observing Liam's surprised expression, smiled and muttered, "You probably don't know this, but this mission was crafted especially for you. There's a significant opportunity here in the No. 396 planetary system for you, and whether you grasp it will depend entirely on your efforts. It's the big surprise you've been waiting for."
