

Chapter 1413 The Different Areas

After observing the No. 396 planetary system and confirming he was indeed alone, Liam shook his head slightly and didn't think much about this.

He then began to walk around, intent on investigating the area.

Sure enough, shortly after Liam set out, he discovered that the No. 396 planetary system was precisely as it had been described in his mission briefing. It was directly divided into two distinct halves by an unseen force!

Liam stood at the edge of the divide and looked around. The white area radiated overwhelming and vigorous vitality.

On the other side, the gray area seemed to be filled with a sense of death as if it were hell.

Liam carefully tuned into the deathly aura within the grey area. A moment later, his eyes lit up with intense surprise.

This was because the deathly aura there matched the aura of the Death Power within his body!

However, the concentration was several times greater.

From this observation, Liam concluded that there must be something extraordinary concealed within the grey area.

Otherwise, such an intense aura of death would not be present.

Thinking about this, Liam couldn't help but feel a bit curious.

It remained a mystery why the No. 396 planetary system was split in two by this unexplainable force.

Liam then turned his attention to the white area.

He sensed carefully and noticed that the aura of life in the white area felt oddly familiar.

Liam furrowed his brows, pondering deeply until his eyes suddenly widened.

This aura felt identical to that from the fragment of the Heart of Life!

However, after Liam had mistakenly identified the law power of wood as the fragment of the Heart of Life in the No. 69 planetary system with Cecil, he was cautious about jumping to conclusions about the life aura here.

He really didn't want to repeat that mistake.

Previously, he had asked Christos about the whereabouts of the Heart of Life fragments.

At that time, Christos had mentioned that fragments of the Heart of Life were indeed in the Human Clan's territory, but only in a few locations. Liam wasn't sure if the No. 396 planetary system was one of them.

Nevertheless, Liam refrained from making hasty assumptions.

The presence of a Heart of Life fragment in the white area could only be confirmed after he checked the area himself.

As Liam pondered various possibilities, he suddenly felt something.

The feeling seemed to come from both the gray and white areas ahead like something within them was subtly calling him!

Liam furrowed his brows and murmured, "Is there something in these two areas pulling me? Or, is there something on me that has connections with something in these areas?"

After some reflection, Liam was convinced that there must be some treasures hidden in both the white and gray areas; otherwise, he wouldn't have felt this strange sensation.

With this thought, Liam could no longer hold back his curiosity.

Chapter 1413 The Different Areas

After all, he was eager to discover what could have been resonating with him.

Liam stepped into the gray area, wanting to investigate this area first.
