

Chapter 1414 The Death Power Domain

Upon stepping into the gray area, Liam felt a tight grip around his throat, leaving him breathless.

An idea flashed in his mind, and he quickly unleashed his Death Power.

Just as Liam had expected, the instant he unleashed his Death Power, the choking grip on his throat vanished.

Though briefly surprised, he quickly regained his focus and ventured further into the gray area.

The whole planetary system was unnervingly quiet. After walking for a long time, Liam saw no trace of life anywhere around him.

He couldn't tell if the gray area itself was lifeless or if the whole planetary system was just devoid of life.

Not even a single weed was visible.

Still, Liam stayed alert and watchful.

He couldn't tell if the area was truly as peaceful as it looked or if there were hidden threats. Staying on guard was crucial to handle any unwanted surprises.

Liam kept his vigilance throughout half a day's journey until he reached the core of the gray area, where he confirmed there was no life here at all.

He faced no danger of encountering enemies here.

However, Liam did stumble upon something strange.

Deep in the gray area, the deathly aura grew intensely thick, and the ground was covered in swirling black aura, moving like venomous snakes.

However, Liam did stumble upon something strange.

Deep in the gray area, the deathly aura grew intensely thick, and the ground was covered in swirling black aura, moving like venomous snakes.

The eerie sight alone filled Liam with a profound sense of danger.

Liam was shocked, not by the swirling deathly aura, but because he realized that the intense death aura was caused by the presence of something extraordinary—the domain of the Death Power!

Even though Liam had a Malicious Aura Domain within him, which was a powerful and highly valued domain, stronger than the typical five-element domains, it was still only a second-tier domain.

The domain of Death Power in front of Liam, on the other hand, was a rare first-tier domain, needing the purest Death Power to form.

In comparison, his Malicious Aura Domain seemed less impressive.

After his initial shock, Liam couldn't help but feel a rush of excitement.

He carefully checked the area again and confirmed that the domain of Death Power here had no master.

This meant the domain had formed by chance from a unique set of conditions.

In other words, if Liam could earn the domain's recognition, he could become its master.

This was a huge opportunity for him.

First-tier law power was already incredibly hard to understand, and mastering a first-tier domain was even more difficult.

The cost and effort needed were immense.

Even experts at the Primogem Saint level would need years to grasp such a law power domain.

Given this incredible opportunity, Liam was naturally thrilled.

After all, he had faced great challenges when forming his Malicious Aura Domain.

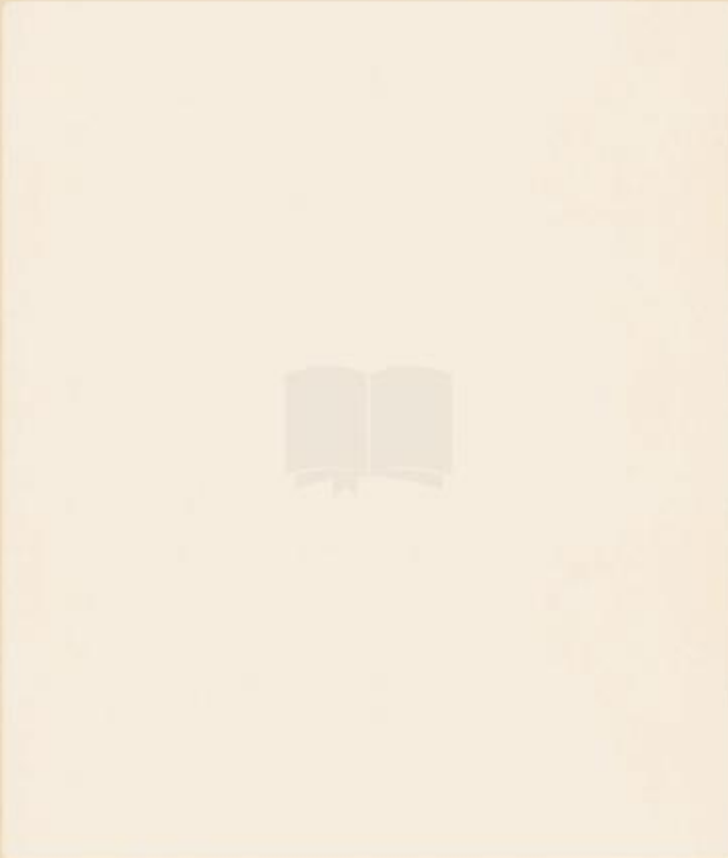

Even with his strength and resilience, he had come close to collapsing several times.

Chapter 1414 The Death Power Domain

Now, with the Death Power domain right before him, all he needed to do was make an effort to earn its recognition and claim it. How could he not be excited?
