

Chapter 1417 The Powerful Domain

After merging with the Death Power domain, Liam closed his eyes and tuned into the power now coursing through him.

As the fusion occurred, his physical strength underwent a dramatic transformation.

The Death Power domain significantly enhanced his strength.

Liam's primogem energy had also undergone considerable changes and was now imbued with a lethal aura.

Each thread of his primogem energy brimmed with the powerful influence of the Death Power.

Liam then tested the extent of this transformation.

He raised his hand and channeled his primogem energy. With a swift motion, he released a powerful stream that struck the ground.

With a resounding crash, he watched in awe as the blast of primogem energy obliterated the surface of the ground within a thousand-meter radius, carving a deep ravine into the landscape.

As he surveyed the scene, shock overwhelmed him.

The level of destruction he had just caused would have previously demanded all his effort.

Liam hadn't anticipated that merging with the Death Power domain would not only enhance his primogem energy but also grant him such terrifying power.

Now, even a casual strike from him wielded the force of what used to be a full-powered attack.

Liam marveled at this sight, deeply impressed.

The Death Power domain truly lived up to its reputation as a first-tier domain.

It was powerful enough to significantly transform the primogem energy of its wielder.

This alone justified its status as a first-tier domain.

Furthermore, the domain enhanced Liam's Death Power, edging him closer to get the formidable primogem energy required to become a first-level Primogem King.

However, these astonishing improvements were merely the beginning of what the domain could achieve.

After all, Liam's previous second-tier domain, the Malicious Aura Domain, had the capability to influence an area within a thousand-meter radius, administering both buffs and debuffs.

As a first-tier domain, the Death Power domain possessed even greater capabilities.

Liam then unleashed the full might of the domain. The next second, a thick, deathly aura emanated from him.

After conducting a few simple tests, Liam discovered that the Death Power domain could extend up to two thousand meters around him.

Within this range, any enemies who weren't stronger than Liam would inevitably be affected by the domain's power.

The most immediate effect was that these foes would be ensnared by the domain's death aura.

Weak-willed adversaries might even lose their resolve completely and find themselves overwhelmed. They would only find relief in being killed.

Furthermore, as a first-tier law power domain, the Death Power domain had the capability to selectively target enemies based on Liam's intent. This ensured that no allies would be accidentally harmed by its effects.

In awe of the domain's capabilities, Liam exclaimed, "No wonder it's considered a first-tier domain. Not only is it far more flexible than the Malicious Aura Domain, but its power is also superior."

Our ads aim to provide better support for authors.

