

Chapter 1427 The Law Power Of The Earth Element

Caden's face was etched with tension as he muttered to himself, "Liam, you have to hold on."

Liam's performance this time was crucial, not only for Caden's personal gain but also for the future of the entire Rosefinch Galaxy.

Caden believed Liam's actions in the secret realm could significantly boost his standing within the City Lord's heart.

From every angle, the stakes of Liam's endeavor were monumental.

Both Caden and the City Lord observed Liam with bated breath, their anxiety palpable.

The resistance of the lake was not overly severe, and the likelihood of a life-threatening scenario was minimal. The lake itself would push Liam out if necessary.

However, Caden and the City Lord were worried that Liam might stubbornly refuse to exit the waters.

If he persisted, his life might be in danger.

As Liam prepared to dive deeper, he felt an upward push from the lake's repelling force.

No matter how hard he tried to dive deeper, he couldn't do it. Frustration filled him as he helplessly watched his hard-earned progress slowly diminish.

With a deep frown set on his face, Liam was not ready to give up.

He struggled against the strong repulsion of the water, but his efforts seemed in vain.

Yet, he refused to abandon his goal.

Liam's mind whirled, desperately searching for a method to reach the lake's bottom.

As he cycled through possible strategies, a solution suddenly crystallized in his thoughts.

He could use his law power of the earth element!

This law power, amplified by his advanced cultivation, had grown nearly a thousandfold in strength.

Without hesitation, Liam activated his gravitational field, but this time, he directed its full intensity at himself.

The instant the formidable gravitational field enveloped him, Liam felt an overwhelming heaviness, as though his body had been laden with lead.

This increased mass significantly counteracted the repelling force of the water.

However, the immense gravitational force also brought with it excruciating pain.

Caught between the crushing pressure from above and the relentless pushing force of the water below, Liam found himself in a tough situation.

Thankfully, his body was robust enough to withstand the strain. Otherwise, he would have faced severe injuries, or worse, death.

Although his life was not in immediate danger, the discomfort Liam experienced was profound and unyielding.

Liam clenched his teeth, determined to withstand the dual torment of the water's repulsion and the gravitational field's crushing pressure. Channeling every ounce of his strength, he continued his descent.

As he delved deeper, the pain intensified. He felt as though his body was being slowly crushed.

Waves of pain engulfed his entire body, causing him to tremble uncontrollably.

Had it not been for his formidable willpower, he might have abandoned the endeavor already.

Yet, despite the excruciating pain, a surge of joy filled Liam's heart.

His strategy was proving effective; he was indeed inching closer to the bottom of the lake.
