

Chapter 1435 He Will Lead Our Human Clan In The...

---

While Liam conversed with Emer, in the Celestial Palace, the City Lord and Caden closely watched Liam's progress in the secret realm through the Network of Human Sovereign. Observing Liam meet their expectations by locating the Heart of Life fragment and successfully integrating it with his body brought smiles of satisfaction to both their faces.

They were genuinely pleased with the things Liam had gained.

With each observation, the City Lord's satisfaction with Liam grew.

Since his ascent to the Cosmic realm, Liam had consistently delivered astonishing feats.

He had first made a name for himself across the Human Sovereign Arena in the Rosefinch Galaxy by defeating a ninth-rank Primogem Warrior, despite only being a first-rank Primogem Warrior himself.

Then, within a month, Liam had advanced through several levels and led Primogem King experts to dismantle the stronghold of the Titan Bugs.

Such feats would challenge even a seasoned Primogem King, yet Liam had achieved them while still being a Primogem Expert.

Furthermore, Liam was the son of Emperor Hoffman and Forge Regal, a lineage so prestigious that 99% of the Human Clan could only aspire to it.

Yet, despite his status, Liam remained humble, treating everyone with equal kindness, regardless of their strength or social standing.

Seeing such a level-headed and gifted individual, the City Lord couldn't help but appreciate Liam.

Beside the City Lord, Caden caught a glimpse of the City Lord's satisfied expression and felt a surge of pride as though Liam's achievements were his own.

Of course, Caden felt happy for Liam.

He then turned his attention back to the screen of the Network of Human Sovereign, smiling and muttering, "Liam, you probably didn't realize that this No. 396 planetary system was the surprise I prepared for you months ago."

Liam's performance in the No. 396 planetary system delighted both the City Lord and Caden.

Caden had resolved earlier that if Liam's fortune wasn't sufficient to secure the Heart of Life fragment from the white zone, he would open the mission to other talents in the Human Clan.

To Caden's astonishment, Liam had not only secured the Heart of Life fragment but also earned the allegiance of the Death Power domain in the gray zone.

This represented a significant gain.

It was a delightful surprise for both City Lord and Caden, who had only been aware of the Heart of Life fragment's presence within the secret realm before.

The gray zone, teeming with intense death energy, was so formidable that even a powerhouse like Caden hesitated to enter.

Only someone like Liam, endowed with Death Power and recognized by the Sea of Death, could traverse the zone with ease and even secure the allegiance of the Death Power domain.

"Liam is indeed a rare genius! He will lead our Human Clan in the future!" City Lord suddenly said, his eyes sparkling with enthusiasm.

The matter seemed to him not just as if Liam was successfully integrating with the Heart of Life fragment but as a prelude to Liam leading the Human Clan to the zenith among all races.

Caden was not surprised by the City Lord's declaration.

To him, Liam was the most talented and promising youth he had ever encountered within the Human Clan.

So, Caden quickly agreed, saying, "Absolutely! This young man, Liam, is sure to be a pillar for the Human Clan in the future. With him leading our race, I will feel reassured!"

Rate the book using the stars!

141086481

141086481

141086481

141086481