

Chapter 1443 Issuing The Challenge

Liam's words struck with the force of a hammer, resonating deeply and leaving the onlookers shocked.

Disbelief colored the faces of everyone present, and some even questioned if they had misheard Liam.

Liam, merely a ninth-rank Primogem Expert, had boldly challenged Joseph, a fourth-rank Primogem King.

Without seeing it themselves, no one would have easily believed such audacity.

Even Joseph appeared frozen in shock, evidently taken aback by Liam's decision.

Joseph's initial thought was that Liam must possess some strategy to secure victory; otherwise, he wouldn't have dared to be so bold.

The stakes of using the challenge token were high, as it guaranteed a significant defeat for one of the duelists.

For a moment, Joseph was gripped by a wave of anxiety.

Even though he believed he wouldn't lose to Liam, the prospect of a duel stirred a trace of nervousness in him.

Now, Joseph found himself in a difficult position.

The allure of winning with the challenge token was tempting.

However, the potential cost of losing was daunting.

If Joseph, being the stronger contestant, were to lose, not only would he forfeit all his points, but he would also owe a portion of his future earnings to Liam for the next hundred years.

Such a defeat was insufferable even for someone of Joseph's stature as a Primogem King.

Watching the uncertainty flicker across Joseph's face, Liam smirked and taunted, "What's wrong? Weren't you boasting about wanting my treasure just a moment ago? Why so quiet now? If you're too frightened to proceed, then step aside now. A coward like you doesn't deserve to stand in my way."

Liam's words were harsh. He had said those words on purpose.

He held in contempt those like Joseph, who grew arrogant with a bit of power and coveted the possessions of others.

Not only was Joseph cowardly, but he also had the audacity to lay claim to what was not his.

If not for the concern that a duel might delay his mission submission, Liam would have provoked Joseph with even more cutting remarks earlier.

Nonetheless, Liam's words were enough to infuriate Joseph.

Veins stood out on Joseph's face as he glared at Liam, his anger uncontainable. He exclaimed, "How dare someone at the ninth rank of the Primogem Expert like you insult me? Just wait. I'll strip you of every single point you have. I'm using the challenge token right now to issue a challenge against you. We'll settle this in the Human Sovereign's arena once the task is complete."

Liam hadn't expected Joseph to react so explosively to his provocation and inwardly sighed.

The Human Clan of the Cosmic realm differed from the one on Blue Star. Here, even ordinary mortals lived for over a hundred years, while cultivators enjoyed significantly extended lifespans.

Yet, despite his centuries of life, Joseph's quick temper and lack of self-discipline were evident.

Liam lamented how Joseph had squandered years of his life without learning to be mature.
