

Chapter 1444 Submitting The Task

---

Right after Joseph raised the challenge token and officially issued his challenge to Liam, a notification from the Network of Human Sovereign echoed in Liam's mind.

"Joseph, a fourth-rank Primogem King, has issued a challenge against you. Please proceed to the Human Sovereign Arena within a day for the duel."

In an instant, the challenge token burst forth with a dazzling golden light, enveloping both Liam and Joseph in its glow.

At that moment, Liam felt an unmistakable sensation as if he had been ensnared by a unique aura.

He quickly grasped that the challenge token had kicked into gear, recording all the details about the duel participants.

If either of them failed to show up at the Human Sovereign Arena by the deadline, the Network of Human Sovereign would automatically declare that individual the loser.

As the onlookers witnessed Joseph truly laying down the gauntlet against Liam, pity for Liam washed over their faces.

They clearly believed Liam was bound to lose.

After all, how could a ninth-rank Primogem Expert stand a chance against a fourth-rank Primogem King?

Yet, their sympathy didn't dim their excitement for the upcoming duel. Many had already resolved to snag tickets, even using their points to do so, just to watch the duel at the Human Sovereign Arena the following

"Joseph, a fourth-rank Primogem King, has issued a challenge against you. Please proceed to the Human Sovereign Arena within a day for the duel."

In an instant, the challenge token burst forth with a dazzling golden light, enveloping both Liam and Joseph in its glow.

At that moment, Liam felt an unmistakable sensation as if he had been ensnared by a unique aura.

He quickly grasped that the challenge token had kicked into gear, recording all the details about the duel participants.

If either of them failed to show up at the Human Sovereign Arena by the deadline, the Network of Human Sovereign would automatically declare that individual the loser.

As the onlookers witnessed Joseph truly laying down the gauntlet against Liam, pity for Liam washed over their faces.

They clearly believed Liam was bound to lose.

After all, how could a ninth-rank Primogem Expert stand a chance against a fourth-rank Primogem King?

Yet, their sympathy didn't dim their excitement for the upcoming duel. Many had already resolved to snag tickets, even using their points to do so, just to watch the duel at the Human Sovereign Arena the following day.

Liam, however, was unfazed by the crowd's buzzing excitement.

After accepting the challenge, he intended to leave the No. 396 planetary system and head straight to the task hall to submit his mission.

mission.

Joseph, after using the challenge token, didn't stick around longer, either. With a derisive snort, he sneered at Liam, saying, "I initially thought I'd just borrow your treasure. But since you've forced my hand with this challenge token, I'll just take half your points with pleasure."

With that, Joseph turned on his heel and sauntered off toward the white zone.

Liam, for his part, merely smiled slightly. He believed Joseph was all bark and no bite.

Before Liam had obtained the Death Power domain, he might have felt a twinge of anxiety about the upcoming duel with Joseph.

But now, armed with the Death Power domain and with his Heart of Life reactivated, Liam brimmed with newfound confidence.

Even before these enhancements, he had been strong in combat. Now, his strength had improved significantly.

Liam soon activated the teleportation array, leaving the No. 396 planetary system behind and arriving at the task hall, where he promptly submitted his mission.

"Task submission successful. The system is evaluating the participant's task completion progress. Please wait..."

"Task evaluation complete. Upon review, the participant has achieved 100% completion for this special task. Excellent work. Additional rewards granted: ten days of free training time in the cultivation field. All rewards have been distributed. Please check your inventory."

Liam couldn't help but smile as he browsed through the rewards for this special task.

In fact, after acquiring the Heart of Life fragment and the Death Power domain, these extra rewards didn't exactly hold much allure for him.

He knew all too well which of these gains was truly valuable.

Still, the bonus of ten days of free cultivation time was a delightful surprise, a little cherry on top of an already impressive haul.

