

Chapter 1454 | Lost Fairly

As Liam defeated Joseph, the spectators who had previously mocked Liam now appeared shocked. Their faces flushed with embarrassment.

Liam chose not to ridicule them in return. He wasn't interested in squandering his time on such matters.

Just as Liam was about to exit the arena following his victory, Joseph, still sprawled on the floor, suddenly spoke up, halting Liam.

"Wait!"

Liam turned, suspecting Joseph was struggling to accept the defeat. He said coldly, "Joseph, think carefully. If you persist in provoking me, I won't even need to act. The Network of Human Sovereign will ensure you learn your lesson."

Joseph shook his head, his expression etched with resignation, and said, "I accept my loss without any complaints. I only want to ask you one question—was the domain you used just now the Death Power domain?"

Having realized this belatedly, Joseph now understood why Liam had been able to navigate the gray zone filled with deathly aura in the No. 396 planetary system.

Liam didn't conceal the truth. He simply nodded and said, "Yes. I was fortunate to acquire the Death Power domain in that gray zone."

Joseph nodded again, his expression somber, and then asked, "May I ask what is your name?"

Without giving it much thought, Liam casually replied, "Liam Hoffman."

With that, Liam exited the Human Sovereign Arena, not glancing back.

Upon hearing Liam's name, both Joseph and the audience were taken aback.

That was Liam?

His name had recently been circulating throughout the Rosefinch Galaxy.

After all, even their teachers had acclaimed Liam as the most talented individual the Human Clan had witnessed in the past ten thousand years.

Joseph's heart sank further, and the bitter smile on his face deepened.

If he had known sooner that the person he had been taunting was Liam, he would never have suggested a duel.

He had been asking for humiliation before.

Moreover, if he had somehow beaten Liam, wouldn't he have earned the hatred of those supporting Liam?

Regret now overwhelmed Joseph.

Yet, he harbored no resentment towards Liam.

After all, the person who had defeated him was Liam, hailed as the Human Clan's most talented man in ten thousand years.

This duel with Liam had made Joseph realize his shortcomings. His initial greed had led him to this situation.

"I lost fairly!"

Ultimately, Joseph could only exhale deeply before leaving.

Simultaneously, Liam returned to his cultivation chamber.

Liam had intended to use the duel with Joseph to deepen his understanding of the primogem energy.

However, the swift conclusion of the battle had offered him little new insight. At most, his mastery and understanding of the Death Power domain had improved marginally.

He felt somewhat disappointed.

Subsequently, Liam used all the special points he had won to purchase additional training time in the cultivation chamber.

For the next ten days, Liam planned to go into seclusion in the chamber.

He believed reaching the Primogem King realm as soon as possible would keep him safer for future missions.
