

Chapter 1460 My Name Is Liam Hoffman

Liam now realized why Cecil had looked so troubled when they had met earlier.

After all, without knowing the true strength of the Dremer race, Liam couldn't guarantee that he would be able to defeat the Dremer race with his own strength after entering the No. 945 planetary system.

This uncertainty weighed on Liam. He understood Cecil would feel the same, especially since Cecil was not as powerful as him.

Upon seeing Liam accept the mission, Cecil quickly approached the mission dispatch machine and accepted the mission as well.

The two then exchanged a look and stepped onto the teleportation array, ready to head to the No. 945 planetary system.

After a lengthy passage through the wormhole tunnel, Liam and Cecil finally arrived on the surface of the No. 945 planetary system.

Liam swiftly stood up and began to cautiously survey their surroundings.

The No. 945 planetary system was a tragic sight, with the mutilated remains of Human Clan members strewn across the landscape and blood pooling everywhere.

The air was thick with the scent of blood.

Fortunately, due to their arrival via teleportation, Liam and Cecil did not immediately encounter any enemies.

Cecil, visibly shaken and angry, muttered, "The Dremer race deserves to be eliminated for this!"

Agreeing with Cecil, Liam nodded solemnly at the sight of the carnage. Shortly after, a battered group of Human Clan cultivators approached. They were covered in blood and visibly in poor condition.

It was clear that this group had just gone through a fierce battle. Seeing their condition, Liam quickly approached them and asked, "What's the situation here? Can you tell us anything about the Dremer race's strength?"

Startled at first, the group soon realized that Liam and Cecil were new arrivals, based on their clean attire. One of them patiently explained, "The outlook isn't good. The number of enemies is at least a hundred thousand. We have engaged them in several battles but haven't encountered any as strong as a Primogem King. It seems all these aliens from the Dremer race are at the Primogem Expert level."

Liam nodded. He understood the Dremer race's strength better now, which eased his anxiety. He said to the man, "Thank you for the information."

The man nodded back and said, "Since you have just arrived in the No. 945 planetary system and aren't familiar with the situation, I recommend you head east first. At the main camp, you can follow the highest commander's instructions."

Liam expressed his gratitude again. As the group prepared to leave, Liam called out, drawing their curious looks. He then produced a container of lake water he had brought from the white zone and said, "This water is infused with life force and can help heal your wounds. You can use it."

The man who had just spoken to Liam was surprised by the gesture. He accepted the container with a moved expression. "Thank you. My name is Herman Welch. When the mission is completed, if I am still alive, I will buy you a drink!"

Liam smiled, responding, "I am sure you will be fine. I'm Liam Hoffman. I'll hold you to that drink."

Then, Liam and Cecil said goodbye to the group of people and headed east.

As they departed, Herman's expression changed as he thought that Liam's name sounded familiar.

After a moment, he finally realized something.

Liam was that famous genius in the Rosefinch Galaxy!
