

Chapter 1469 Carnage

Liam, wielding the Fatal Hex, was unbeatable against foes of equal or lesser strength.

Now that the Heart of Life could restore his spiritual power, he could unleash the Fatal Hex even more often.

Cecil watched in disbelief as Liam single-handedly took down an army of over a hundred thousand warriors.

He was amazed by Liam's strength, never thinking Liam could pull off such a tough military mission so easily, even though he always knew Liam was incredible.

After wiping out the entire Dremer race's army, Liam turned to the dazed Cecil and laughed. "What's the matter? Still in shock? The mission's complete!"

Cecil, snapping back to reality after hearing Liam's words, nodded slowly.

Liam sheathed his sword of darkness, making sure every member of the Dremer race's army was dead, and then guided Cecil away.

As they left the heart of the Dremer army's base, Liam spotted the group of Human Clan cultivators he had saved before.

Gone was their earlier mocking attitude; now, their faces showed shock and admiration.

It was clear they had heard about Liam's amazing victory over the Dremer army.

Liam cast them a quick glance and left without saying another word.

It took a while for the group to shake off their shock after Liam and

After a long pause, one person finally broke the silence. "Did those two really just take out the entire Dremer army?"

"Did you not see all that chaos? How could you miss it?"

"How is that even possible? Isn't that guy just a level-nine Primogem Expert? Did he really just do that? Am I dreaming?"

"Two people took on the entire Dremer army. What kind of monsters are they?"

As the group kept talking about the incident, Liam and Cecil had already made it back to the Human Clan's camp.

The mission wasn't fully completed in the network yet, suggesting that scattered members of the Dremer race were still lurking in the No. 945 planetary system.

But Liam wasn't worried. After crushing the Dremer army, he had more than enough time to wait for the mission to wrap up.

Over the next few days, Liam and Cecil stayed at the camp.

Liam used the opportunity to adjust to life in the Cosmic realm's military.

He found it quite reminiscent of his time on Blue Star.

Meanwhile, the Human Clan cultivators who had seen Liam and Cecil take down the Dremer army returned to the camp and shared their story.

Before long, the tale of Liam and Cecil's teamwork in defeating the Dremer army spread throughout the No. 945 planetary system.

Cecil never imagined he would become famous alongside Liam, especially for such outrageous rumors.

The victory over the Dremer army was entirely Liam's doing and had nothing to do with him.

However, Liam didn't plan to reveal the truth, leaving Cecil to awkwardly accept the praise from everyone.

Three days later, the Network of Human Sovereign suddenly buzzed with a notification: "Military mission completed. All participants, please await finalization."
