

Chapter 1478 Return Alive

"I've already sent you the details of this mission through the Network of Human Sovereign. Please review them carefully. If you have any questions, make sure to ask them now while we still have time," Caden said.

Liam and the others shook their heads, indicating they had no questions.

Caden nodded in acknowledgment and continued, "Shortly, I'll be piloting the battleship to transport all of you to the secret realm's entrance. It's important that you enter the secret realm immediately after you disembark. Do not stay outside the entrance for long. There's a battlefield just beyond, where we are at war with the Dremer race. Staying there could put your life in danger."

Though Liam and his companions were formidable as Primogem Experts, their capabilities were modest in the vastness of the battlefield.

Understanding the severity of the situation, Liam and the others nodded solemnly.

Standing next to Liam, Cataleya voiced her concerns, saying, "The details of the task indicate there are creatures within the secret realm as powerful as a Primogem King. Your Lordship, if we do encounter them, won't we be at a disadvantage?"

Caden nodded. "It's not just you. Even the Dremer race's warriors would need to steer clear of them, so I don't expect you to engage with those creatures. If you run into those creatures, do anything you could to stay alive. Your primary objective is to retrieve the law power Nocturne left."

Caden's insistence on securing the law power of Nocturne underscored the mission's importance to the Human Clan.

The gravity of the situation weighed on Liam.

He felt a deep allegiance to the Human Clan, strengthened by Caden's past discreet support.

Liam resolved to do his best in the mission.

Seeing that no one else had questions, Caden gestured for everyone to sit and rest to make sure they remained in peak condition.

Then, he took the helm of the battleship and steered it through the star-filled cosmos.

The battleship, which was of the Venerable Emperor Level, moved at an extraordinary speed.

But even with such staggering speed, it took 30 minutes to reach their destination. This was a testament to the immense expanse of the Cosmic realm.

Liam recalled an intriguing rumor he had heard.

Apparently, not even a top-tier cultivator at the Primogem Deity level could traverse the entire Cosmic realm in their lifetime.

Half an hour later, Caden returned to Liam and the others, holding five Passing Wands crafted from a unique material.

"These are Passing Wands. Should you face any danger within the secret realm, crush these. They will transport you back to the Rosefinch Galaxy. However, remember that these Passing Wands can only teleport living beings. If you manage to obtain the law power and use the Passing Wands, the law power will not return with you to the Rosefinch Galaxy. Be careful and don't risk your life needlessly."

Liam and his companions solemnly nodded and accepted the Passing Wands.

They realized that retrieving the law power of Nocturne would not be without challenge.

Suddenly, Liam heard a voice in his mind. It was Caden's, offering a reminder.

"The law power of Nocturne is vital for the Human Clan, but your safety is more important. Liam, you must ensure your safety and return alive.
