

Chapter 1481 Hilliard's Anger

Hilliard's pride took a hit as Liam spoke to him like that, his face hardening as he responded in a low, icy tone, "Fine! You said that yourself! If you're so set on seeking trouble, go ahead, just don't drag the rest of the team down with you!"

Liam gave him a sharp look but stayed silent.

Normally, he wouldn't waste time arguing with someone as foolish as Hilliard.

But the current situation was different. The team was inside a secret realm, on a crucial mission to find the law power of Nocturne.

Even Caden had stressed how vital Nocturne's law power was for the Human Clan.

Not only was it the key to reviving Nocturne, but it also held the secret to defeating the Dremer race.

But Hilliard had still chosen to ruin the team unity just because of his jealousy.

So, Liam had no plans to put up with Hilliard's antics. If Hilliard pushed his luck, Liam wouldn't resort to killing Hilliard, but he would definitely teach him a lesson.

Noticing that Hilliard had just talked and hadn't done anything excessive, Liam finally let out a sigh of relief.

He wasn't worried about his own safety; he was just relieved by Hilliard's choice of not doing anything rash.

After all, back on Blue Star, Liam had been a five-star general and knew that serious internal conflicts at the start of a mission could really disrupt things and put the whole team in danger.

Without wasting any more time, Liam scoffed and headed in the direction he had indicated earlier.

Nearby, Alexis watched him leave, seeming to want to say something but holding back, clearly wanting to keep Liam in the team. After all, there must have been a reason Caden had let Liam join the team.

But Hilliard didn't care about that; he sneered and said, "Alexis, do you really want to keep that guy? He's all talk and no action. Let him leave! I bet the next time we see him, he'll just be a corpse."

Alexis felt torn, but Cataleya didn't hesitate. She turned, chasing after Liam's retreating figure while everyone else looked on in surprise, shouting, "Liam, wait for me!"

Seeing Cataleya go after Liam, another woman in the group, Gabriela, hesitated. Her gaze shifted between Hilliard and Liam before she finally clenched her teeth and decided to follow Cataleya.

In a flash, both Cataleya and Gabriela left with Liam, leaving Hilliard fuming.

But when he noticed Alexis still by his side, his expression eased a bit as he said, "Alexis, we don't need to care about them—"

Before Hilliard could finish speaking, Alexis interjected, "I believe the team shouldn't be split up. Hilliard, you should follow us!"

With that, Alexis quickly turned to follow Liam.

Hilliard stood alone, feeling himself shift from being a central part of the team to an outsider, resentment building up inside him.

If it weren't for that annoying Liam, he wouldn't have faced such humiliation.

Hilliard blamed it all on Liam but didn't dare take revenge in the secret realm. He knew he would have to wait until they returned to the Rosefinch Galaxy to settle the score.

14108