

Chapter 1498 The Stone Of Five Elements

A look of confusion flickered across Liam's face.

Before him lay what appeared to be a simple stone, glowing with five different colors and no bigger than his palm. At first glance, it looked like an ordinary stone.

At least, that was Liam's first impression.

Yet, he wasn't ignorant. He began to understand the stone's significance as he tuned into the elemental law power radiating from the stone. "Is this... the Stone of Five Elements?"

The Stone of Five Elements was incredibly rare, containing the powers of metal, wood, water, fire, and earth, which made it highly sought after.

Its effects were also powerful. With all five elemental powers within, the Stone of Five Elements could awaken elemental law powers in cultivators, which was one of its main uses.

However, since Liam had already awakened his elemental law powers, the Stone of Five Elements could only help him combine the energies of the law powers.

Liam had always been fascinated by the law power of the five elements, as it was regarded as a top-tier law power with impressive capabilities.

His Death Power alone had demonstrated the sheer might of top-tier law power.

He believed if he could master a second top-tier law power, his strength would surge remarkably.

For this reason, the Stone of Five Elements held immense value to him.

As Liam held the Stone of Five Elements, a surge of excitement ran through him.

Previously, he had faced endless struggles trying to merge the five elemental law powers, and success had always eluded him. He had even believed he would need several more months to succeed.

After all, achieving even 9% mastery of all elemental law powers was a slow and taxing process. This endeavor also clashed with his goal of reaching the rank of Primogem King.

Now, however, the Stone of Five Elements offered an ideal solution for him.

By absorbing the energy from the Stone of Five Elements, he could effortlessly guide his internal elemental law powers to merge into the law power of the five elements.

Additionally, he also had concerns that Caden hadn't received his request for aid. If he exited the secret realm unprepared and ran into enemies from the Dremer race, bringing Nocturne's law power back to the Rosefinch Galaxy would be impossible for him.

Liam knew he could use the Passing Wand Caden had given him to return safely to the Rosefinch Galaxy in times of danger.

Caden had even told him that his life was far more valuable than the law power of Nocturne.

Despite this, Liam hesitated to take that route.

He believed Nocturne's sacrifice was a brave act for the Human Clan.

To abandon Nocturne's law power out of fear of death would feel like a true act of cowardice.

Therefore, after much thought, Liam resolved to stay in the secret realm a bit longer.

As for the Stone of Five Elements, despite his eagerness to refine it and absorb its energy, Liam remained rational.

The secret realm was teeming with more than just odd creatures; enemies from the Dremer race lurked here as well.

Liam understood that focusing entirely on absorbing the energy from the Stone of Five Elements would blind him to his surroundings, leaving him vulnerable to potential threats.

At that point, even a single enemy of the Primogem King level could put him in grave danger.

Rate the book using the stars!