

Chapter 1530 The Shocking Revelations

Hilliard continued his tirade, his voice cutting through the air with unchecked fervor.

Caden, his brows knitted in frustration, finally reached his limit. With a voice that echoed like a clap of thunder, he said, "Enough!"

The word struck Hilliard like a physical blow, silencing him instantly.

Caden, eyes blazing with anger, turned to Winfred and demanded, "Tell him about Liam's extraordinary performance. Make him realize he couldn't even compare with Liam."

Winfred was more than happy to comply.

He rose, his posture straightening as he approached the center of the Human Sovereign Arena.

He stood there and faced everyone. After casting a piercing glare at Hilliard, he said, "You accuse Liam of using tricks. Yet, have you discerned what these so-called tricks might be?"

Hilliard, caught off guard, fumbled for words but found none.

Winfred's sneer was cold as he continued, his voice deep and resonant, "Liam single-handedly defeated more than one hundred thousand Dremer warriors. Tell me, can anyone here, at Liam's level, do something like that?"

At his declaration, a hush fell over the crowd.

The silence was so absolute that one could have heard a pin drop.

Many people were shocked, including some Primogem Kings.

Liam, who was only a ninth-tier Primogem Expert, had killed more than one hundred thousand Dremer warriors on his own?

This was astonishing!

Yet, despite their shock, no one dared to doubt the truth of Winfred's words.

Because Winfred never lied. Besides, Caden was the one who had asked him to say that.

Yet, Winfred's revelations were not yet complete. After a moment's pause, he continued, "As a ninth-tier Primogem Expert, Liam gravely injured a Four-winged Demon who was a seventh-tier Primogem King. He stripped it of its two wings, and the other two were left barely hanging. How many of us here can achieve such a feat?"

If the initial announcement had been explosive, this revelation was utterly staggering.

A mere ninth-tier Primogem Expert incapacitating a formidable Four-winged Demon?

How was such a feat conceivable?

It was then that a voice rose from the crowd.

"I knew that name sounded familiar. It's Liam, that Liam!"

"I remember now. Just a few months ago, he triumphed in eight consecutive missions here in the Human Sovereign Arena. He's the number one genius of our Rosefinch Galaxy."

"So it's him!"

The crowd burst into a cacophony of shocked voices, their astonishment echoing through the arena. At that moment, everyone was completely convinced of Liam's prowess.

Meanwhile, Cataleya and her companions finally understood everything.

They now knew why Caden and Winfred had advised Liam to restrain himself in the duel rather than caution him to be careful.

It turned out, from the very beginning, they knew Liam would never lose.

After Hilliard heard Winfred's words, his face lost all color.

He now understood the gravity of his mistake in messing with Liam and challenging him to a duel.

His heart was filled with regret now.
