

Chapter 1552 He Looks So Much Like Her

Liam could almost feel the weight of Katherine's astonishment. A weapon that could evolve by itself was a marvel, one so rare that even beings as mighty as Primogem Deities would count themselves lucky to own it.

Liam gave a firm nod and admitted, "That's exactly right!"

As this revelation sank in, Katherine's eyes grew wide with awe. She took a long look at Liam, her face etched with intrigue.

With nine centuries under her belt, Katherine had seen and experienced things beyond Liam's wildest dreams.

She recognized that while Liam's possession of both the blood essence of the Blood Sovereign and the sword of darkness was impressive, it wasn't just his efforts at play.

His fortune, a force potent enough to alter destinies, was also a major player.

When Katherine inspected Liam, she discovered his fortune was incredible. Astonishment sparkled in her eyes.

Reflecting on Liam's youthful appearance and good fortune, she mused that he must hail from an extraordinary lineage.

The more Katherine looked at him, the more familiar his features seemed. Just then, Arthur spoke up. "Liam, with my grandmother's help, you can rest assured!"

After a pause, he continued, "You might not know this, but in the past, my grandmother received guidance from the best—Forge Regal, the premier master of Primogem equipment in the Human Clan."

Arthur wasn't just spinning tales. Many years ago, Forge Regal had indeed given Katherine some advice on weapon crafting. Her advice, though brief, had propelled Katherine to a stellar reputation in the weapon refining arts.

This was a testament to Forge Regal's vast knowledge and excellent skill.

Liam's reaction was one of surprise.

He recognized the name Forge Regal—a legend wrapped in mystery within the Human Clan. It was also whispered that her husband, equally enigmatic, was a Human Sovereign in the Human Clan, but Liam was clueless about his identity.

However, Liam wasn't particularly interested in the details of this matter. To him, it was just another chapter in Forge Regal's private life. His main concern was honing his own skills.

Unnoticed by both Arthur and Liam, Katherine, who had been quietly observing Liam, suddenly looked utterly shocked.

Her eyes locked on Liam's face, and she muttered, "So that's it! He looks so much like her!"

Liam and Arthur, catching her words, turned around to face her. Arthur, unable to contain his curiosity, asked, "Grandma, what did you just say?"

Caught off guard by Arthur's direct question, Katherine quickly regained her composure with ease.

She waved his question off. "Nothing."

Liam and Arthur shared a look, sensing there was more to her words. Yet, seeing Katherine's reluctance to share more, they opted not to press further.

Chapter 1553 What Do You Think Is Happening

Katherine shifted her gaze to Liam. Her eyes softened, carrying a gentle warmth. Her voice changed, becoming calm and tender as she said, "Could you show me your sword of darkness?"

Arthur, standing a little further off, blinked in surprise. Katherine's sudden change in demeanor caught him off guard. He glanced at Liam, a question in his eyes.

Liam was equally confused.

However, despite his bewilderment, he found some comfort in the change. Katherine's newfound friendliness surely meant she wouldn't turn down his request.

With care, Liam pulled out the sword of darkness and handed it to Katherine.

As Katherine took the sword of darkness and looked at it, her face slowly shifted to astonishment.

Her sharp mind immediately recognized the truth. The sword of darkness indeed had the power to evolve, just like Liam had told her.

It seemed the spirit inside the sword of darkness was no ordinary one. It must have an extraordinary origin!

To think such a rare and priceless weapon would appear in the Celestial Realm was truly unbelievable.

Katherine couldn't help but admire Liam's incredible luck.

She quickly pushed aside her wandering thoughts and shifted her focus back to the sword of darkness.

She studied it closely, but after a while, found nothing amiss. A small frown appeared on her face as she turned to Liam. Her voice was gentle as she said, "You mentioned earlier that the sword of darkness can't absorb negative energy now. Would you mind showing me? I'd like to understand what's going on."

Liam gave a quick nod. "Okay!"

As Liam spoke, a dark, mysterious energy began to swirl in his hand.

The instant the energy appeared, a heavy sense of death filled the entire room.

Katherine's eyes went wide with shock.

She realized that Liam was wielding the Death Power!

Now everything made sense. She understood why Liam had discovered the problem with his sword.

Liam possessed the Death Power and was able to provide the sword of darkness with negative energy.

Katherine quickly reminded herself that now was not the time to be shocked. With a subtle nod to Liam, she gave him the signal to continue.

Liam caught Katherine's gesture and wasted no time. He nodded back and focused, channeling his Death Power to release negative energy.

The room watched as dark, swirling energy coiled around the sword of darkness in Katherine's hand. However, the sword did not take it in.

Despite the growing intensity of the negative energy, which nearly filled the entire room, the sword remained still.

At that point, Liam stopped channeling the energy. His face showed a hint of helplessness as he spoke.

"This is the current situation. No matter how much negative energy I release, the sword of darkness doesn't respond. It used to absorb it before. What do you think is happening?"

Katherine furrowed her brow, her eyes shifting between Liam and the sword of darkness in her hand.
