

Chapter 1560 Stop Your Pointless Resistance

Dread crept through Liam and Cecil as they realized the Soulsky Clan's emissary harbored sinister intentions, yet they dared not to say anything.

After all, they had snuck out without telling the elders of the Vaughn family. If the emissary chose to end their lives here, no one would find out about it.

"Liam, what's our next move? We can't just leave and abandon Cataleya and the others. But we can't let the emissary take us away, either!" Cecil sent a message to Liam through the Network of Human Sovereign.

Liam contemplated Cecil's message before responding, "I'll rouse Cataleya and the others quietly. You try to contact the Vaughn family elders. Once everyone's alert, we'll devise a plan."

Cecil gave an imperceptible nod while feigning rapt attention to the emissary's words.

Liam stealthily awakened Cataleya and their companions, briefing them on the situation through messages.

The emissary, a ninth-level Primogem King, wielded power far beyond Liam's capabilities. In a direct confrontation, Liam wouldn't stand a chance for even five seconds.

However, mere moments after everyone stirred awake, the emissary sensed something amiss.

A chilling smile crossed the emissary's face as melodic incantations began to fill the air.

With each chant, Liam's features betrayed subtle changes.

Horror dawned as he watched his newly awakened companions succumb once again to the emissary's hypnotic influence.

Within his mind, Liam fought hard as his thoughts began to spiral beyond his grasp.

Though his iron will held firm, Liam knew his resistance against the emissary's power couldn't last forever.

He was no match for the emissary, and the Vaughn family didn't know they were here. They couldn't come to save them.

The emissary's mask finally shattered, revealing a sneer of pure contempt. He said to Liam, "Stop your pointless resistance. With your potential, you could rise to greatness within our Soulsky Clan."

The emissary's words crashed through Liam's mind like rolling thunder, threatening to splinter his thoughts.

Yet through the agony, Liam rallied his strength to roar, "No way! The Soulsky Clan's supposed diversity is nothing but a smokescreen for brainwashing! Your profound teachings are nothing but lies!"

The emissary was unfazed as he said, "Violence has consumed you and stained your hands crimson. Join the Soulsky Clan, and I shall cleanse these brutal urges from your soul."

The emissary radiated confidence, knowing Liam's defenses would crumble eventually without the Vaughn family's protection.

His gaze swept over to Cecil, already ensnared once more by his enchantment.

Thanks to Cecil, he had learned that the person beside him was Liam, the renowned genius of the Human Clan.

A glint of triumph flickered in the emissary's eyes. Whether he delivered Liam to the Soulsky Clan or eliminated him, it would be a substantial accomplishment.

