

Chapter 1561 Every Last Secret

The Soulsky Clan's emissary harbored an intense desire to recruit Liam into his clan.

Talent like Liam's was rare and invaluable. Should he successfully bring such a promising recruit into the Soulsky Clan, his status would skyrocket. He might even ascend beyond his role as emissary to claim the coveted position of protector.

The emissary, Farris Alvarado, had once stood among the Human Clan's elite as a formidable Primogem King. He didn't join the Soulsky Clan because he had been duped; he had chosen to betray the Human Clan.

Now, when Farris ventured into Human Clan territory, the leaders of the Human Clan tolerated his presence but regarded him with cold disdain.

Farris's betrayal hadn't been born of necessity or desperation. He had just left the Human Clan during its hardest time.

Such treachery sparked nothing but revulsion.

Seeing Liam's continued resistance, Farris remained patient. Upon discovering Liam's true identity, he had discreetly erected a barrier around the planetary system.

The shield was so perfect that even a Primogem Emperor would fail to detect any disturbance within.

He continued to chant, "Peace be with you, my friend. Find comfort in Soulsky Clan's teachings! In this vast universe, turmoil may be endless, but tranquility dwells within your own heart. I see you're weighed down by your violent deeds. Only by embracing serenity and abandoning the path of violence can you achieve true enlightenment!"

Farris' words resonated through Liam like the thunderous toll of a bell, each syllable reverberating deep within his chest.

Liam's heart hammered against his ribcage, racing uncontrollably.

His body teetered on the edge of collapse!

Still, Liam wouldn't give in. Even though it felt like his whole body was ripping apart, he shouted back fiercely, "Your honeyed words can't deceive me, you treacherous snake! Think I'd turn my back on the Human Clan like you did? Not a chance!"

In that instant, Liam's will reached out to the sword of darkness. The sword lifted into the air, as if held by an unseen hand.

The sword's edge cleaved the void with such ferocity that even Farris felt its killing intent.

Liam aimed the sword at Farris using his mind. But his strike failed to find its mark. With nothing more than a casual tilt of his head, Farris dodged the attack.

Still, the sword's sudden emergence caused Farris to reassess Liam with newfound interest.

He then looked at the sword of darkness, a trace of greed sparking in his eyes.

A smile spread across Farris' face as he said, "This thing is meant for me!"

Watching Liam's masterful mental control over the blade, Farris recognized the sword of darkness as a truly exceptional artifact.

Liam's lips twisted into a mocking sneer as he taunted, "Is this the enlightenment your precious Soulsky Clan preaches? You spout endless platitudes about caring for others' welfare, yet the moment my sword catches your eye, your facade cracks, revealing the greed beneath."

Farris was stung by Liam's piercing words, and his carefully constructed facade crumbled. His benevolent mask slipped away, replaced by a malevolent grin that revealed his true nature.

"It seems to me you're harboring quite the collection of secrets, aren't you? Originally, I planned to grant you a swift death to complete my mission, but now... I've got something far more interesting in mind. I'll tear through the barriers of your mind and extract every last secret of yours."

