

Chapter 1586 The Massive Wave Of Law Power

Liam activated the 'law power surge', and a sharp, pounding pain tore through his consciousness.

It felt as if his entire being was on the verge of rupture. He struggled to absorb the law power, and it overwhelmed him, like forcing an already overflowing dam to hold more water. The pressure was unbearable.

Without warning, the once-calm law power in the air turned violent, crashing down on Liam like a colossal tidal wave!

If he took the full brunt of that force, there was no doubt he'd either be gravely injured or killed outright.

A flicker of panic surged through Liam, but he forced himself to stay composed.

"Stay calm," Liam told himself. "Panic won't solve anything."

Yet, despite his efforts, his chest tightened with unease.

The law power was unimaginably fierce, and as just a mere soul, Liam knew he had no realistic chance of withstanding this surge.

Still, surrender was not an option.

With every ounce of strength he had, Liam pushed back, fighting to resist the crushing force.

As the law power surge struck, he unleashed every technique at his disposal, summoning a wisp of the Heart of Life to enshroud his soul.

In that instant, the power surge collided with him.

A deafening roar tore through the air as the Heart of Life fought tirelessly to heal him. Though his soul sustained injuries, they remained within a limit he could endure.

Pain ripped through Liam's soul, sending violent tremors through his physical form.

But just as Liam thought the law power surge was finally fading, his relief turned to dread. The surge wasn't disappearing. Instead, it was regenerating, drawing strength from the boundless law energy of the world.

Liam's heart sank—he had barely escaped one surge, only to be thrust into another.

Yet, even when he was facing this relentless storm, his resolve remained unshaken.

Because defeat was not an option for him.

Julie and Asher were still waiting for him to save them.

Steeling himself, Liam swiftly channeled the energy of the Heart of Life, forcing it to repair his injured soul as quickly as possible.

At the same time, he fought to keep his consciousness intact, desperately searching for a way out of this deadly predicament.

Just then, the law power surge descended once more, and this time, it wasn't just powerful; it was cataclysmic. A celestial force crashed down on Liam's soul with devastating intensity, shaking him to his very core!

Agony exploded within him again, sharper than before.

This time, it wasn't just his body trembling; his very soul convulsed under the unbearable pain.

Liam clung to consciousness by sheer force of will, pushing the Heart of Life to its limits to mend his wounded soul.

Then, without warning, the third wave of law power struck.

Liam's eyes narrowed. His wounds were still raw, his soul barely holding together. If he took this hit head-on, the damage would be catastrophic.

The moment he realized this, he abandoned his passive defense.

He wouldn't just endure this time; he would fight back with everything he had.

If he could eliminate the source of the law power surge, he could end this battle once and for all.

Letting out a low grunt, Liam summoned the full force of Death Power and the Law Power of Five Elements, condensing them in this realm.

As the law power surge closed in, Liam's eyes hardened with determination, and he muttered through gritted teeth, "Come on, then. Let's see who's stronger!"
