

Chapter 1587 | Finally Understand What I Have To...

Liam's law power, which was normally imperceptible, swiftly gathered before his soul and condensed into a tangible wall.

Liam stood within the protection of this magical wall, staring at the rising law power wave with fierce determination in his eyes.

At the same time, the energy of the Heart of Life enveloped Liam's soul, acting as an additional layer of defense.

"It's getting closer to me," Liam whispered to himself.

He could feel the gap between his soul and the law power wave steadily closing.

Without warning, the law power wave surged towards him.

Realizing it was time, Liam shouted with determination, "Go!"

At his command, the Death Power and the Law Power of Five Elements merged, unleashing a devastating force. Under Liam's control, these powers rushed headlong toward the law power wave.

The moment they met, a deafening crash echoed through the space.

The world plunged into darkness, as if struck by a great catastrophe. The ground, though virtual, shook violently.

Liam felt his throat constrict as he anxiously observed the Death Power and the Law Power of Five Elements clash with the law power wave.

If he succeeded in destroying the law power wave, he would be able to cultivate here peacefully, free from any further disturbances.

Unfortunately, Liam's expectations were soon dashed.

The law power wave ripped through his Death Power and the Law Power of Five Elements with terrifying ease. It was as if the heavens were determined on unleashing the full might of the law power wave upon Liam in order to demonstrate their fury.

Liam's face grew dark. He was caught off guard by how effortlessly the law power wave obliterated his attack.

The prospect of confronting the third wave filled his heart with a heavy sense of dread.

Just then, something abruptly caught his eye. He noticed that there were also the Death Power and the Law Power of Five Elements coming from the third wave of law power.

The energies encompassed by the Law Power of Five Elements in the wave were distinct. It encompassed the earth element's firmness, the wood element's life force, the water element's adaptability, the metal element's keenness, and the fire element's fierceness. It was identical to the Law Power of Five Elements that he wielded.

Liam's eyes widened in astonishment. As he felt the Death Power and the Law Power of Five Elements in the wave, a growing suspicion began to take root in his mind.

He couldn't help but wonder if the law powers within the wave were a copy of his own law powers.

The law power tree housed myriad forms of law power, but Liam was positive that the tree did not contain the Death Power.

Caden had informed him long ago that the Death Power was an outlawed force within the Human Clan. To obtain it, one had to venture into the Sea of Death within the Sea of Laws.

That was the only way to attain that power.

The more Liam thought about this, the more plausible his conjecture

The more Liam thought about this, the more plausible his conjecture appeared.

It dawned on him that the law power wave was, in fact, a reflection of his own law powers.

His greatest enemy wasn't the cataclysmic wave of law power, but rather his own self.

The only way for Liam to achieve the ultimate breakthrough was to confront and overcome "his own shadow self".

A spark of exhilaration flickered across Liam's face. "That must be it. I finally understand what I have to do now," he muttered.

