

Chapter 1599 Preparation

Lindy's excitement was palpable now that she and Liam had teamed up. Her eyes were alight with joy.

Turning to Liam, she asked, "Shouldn't we get moving now?"

Liam paused for a moment, then responded, "There's no rush."

Perplexed, Lindy furrowed her brow and looked at him, clearly not following his logic.

Noticing her confusion, Liam offered a reassuring smile and said, "The mission's brief was vague about the difficulty of tracking down those creatures. It's probably not going to be a walk in the park. Let's make sure we're fully prepared before we set out."

Lindy understood him now.

She believed Liam had a point. The mission details were ambiguous at best; they said nothing about the creatures' abilities or strength.

Venturing to the area unprepared could spell trouble.

Lindy thought about how meticulous Liam was. Without Liam's reminder, she would have naively headed to the mission site unprepared.

She knew that once one hit level four or higher, the Network of Human Sovereign's support would be off the table during the mission.

Meaning, on such high-stake missions, they couldn't rely on the usual support channels like the Network of Human Sovereign's exchange store.

Should they run into trouble and find themselves unable to resupply, they would face a tough choice.

They could either stick it out at the mission location, reluctant to give up the mission rewards but ultimately facing danger; or they could abandon the mission and endure the penalties for failure.

Liam's reminder had made Lindy more cautious.

At that moment, Liam said, "I'll access the Network of Human Sovereign right now. We'll see what we might need." Then, he gave Lindy access to the Network of Human Sovereign, enabling Lindy to view his exchange store.

Without a moment's delay, Lindy's gaze shifted to the interface Liam had brought up, eager to see what they could use.

Liam said, "This mission requires us to collect at least a thousand crystal cores from mystical creatures. The key is finding where these creatures are hiding. Lindy, I'm thinking we should get some Spirit Search Stones just to be safe."

These stones were capable of scanning for Spirit Stones within a set radius and would be invaluable for the mission.

Lindy immediately showed her support. She nodded and said, "Okay, Liam, I'll chip in half the points needed for the trade at the Network of Human Sovereign's exchange store. Let's split the cost."

Liam gave a gentle shake of his head. "Lindy, there's no need for such formality between us. If it weren't for you saving my life before, I wouldn't even be here. Spending a few points is nothing. I will cover all the cost. Plus, this will help both of us complete the mission faster."

Seeing Liam's resolve, Lindy decided not to press further about the matter.
