

Chapter 46

“I would like to buy this building.”

“I want this one.”

“Give me this.”

“Well, I’ll take this one then.”

The four men said eagerly without even taking a moment to consider.

Xyla Quest was beginning to doubt whatever she was seeing. What was going on? Why did so many people want to buy buildings one after another this early in the morning?

Why did all the wealthy people gather here today? Was it because the promotion was very well done, coupled with the fact that their property development was in a strategic location? Was that why the wealthy folks wanted to invest in them?

This was the only possibility Xyla could think of.

While Xyla asked these questions in her mind, she guided the men to get their contracts signed.

After that, the men paid and left without beating around the bush.

Emily Quest, who observed this happening before her eyes, was so angry that she could not find the words.

Within a short time, Emily witnessed Xyla successfully selling nineteen buildings. Xyla had taken a huge step forward and was now much closer to her goal.

Was Xyla really going to embarrass Emily? Why was fate against Emily?

After Xyla Quest saw the men off, she returned to the gallery's main lobby with a joyful expression on her face.

Right then, the lobby was still packed with people who were being guided by salespeople to get their contracts signed and to make payments.

From the beginning of the launching ceremony until now, things had been going smoothly. Therefore, Xyla was in an extraordinarily good mood.

After scanning around happily, Xyla finally landed her gaze upon Emily. Xyla could see how agitated Emily appeared.

However, since Xyla was too occupied, she had no time to dwell on Emily. Instead, she approached a group of customers waiting in line and began introducing the property to them.

Finally, Emily decided enough was enough. With a sullen expression on her face, she stormed off.

By eight o'clock in the evening, Imperial Prime had sold out eighty percent of its units.

It had created a new sales record on the launching day of new property development.

On Weibo, various media houses were sharing posts about Imperial Prime's successful launch.

They were all impressed by how Xyla handled the launch.

Meanwhile, Emily and May Conner watched the news on television in the Quest family's living room. Suddenly, a push notification about Imperial Prime's miraculous success appeared on Emily's phone.

Emily, who was already not in her best of moods, felt even more annoyed now.

Emily immediately tossed her phone onto the coffee table. "Why do I feel as if Xyla Quest is using some underhanded tactics? It's almost like god is on her side. Why was she able to create a sales miracle?" She said through gritted teeth.

On the other hand, May punched the couch angrily. "I'm sure she just got lucky. There's nothing impressive about that. I'm sure you would be able to do the same if you worked hard and if an opportunity comes your way."

"Yeah. She just got lucky this time. There's nothing amazing about what she did.” Emily then picked up a glass of red wine in front of her and downed it in one gulp.

Chapter 47

When May Conner saw what Emily Quest did, she immediately snatched the wine glass away from Emily. May tapped Emily on her arm. “My child, are you mad? Since you are pretending to be pregnant, you should act the part. Why are you drinking? What if your dad or other people see you?”

Emily frowned unhappily before she looked around. “It’s late already. Everyone has gone to sleep. Who would see me? Besides, I’m not that unlucky.”

“Please be careful!” May said seriously.

“I know,” Emily snorted coldly. She appeared fully confident.

Outside, a red Maserati came to a halt in the courtyard. Exhausted, Xyla Quest gave her forehead a pinch before she unbuckled her seatbelt.

However, instead of getting out of the car immediately, she plopped down into her seat and zoned out.

Ever since the preparations for the property launch started, she had been working overtime. She continuously motivated herself to keep working hard. Now that she had accomplished her goal and was completely exhausted, she appeared almost like a deflated balloon.

Since the sales went very well today, she had celebrated with her team. After drinking a tad bit too much, she was feeling a little tipsy right now.

After some time, Xyla finally dragged herself exhaustedly into the house.

As soon as she walked in, Emily and May rolled their eyes at her.

The red lipstick stain on the wine glass above the coffee table caught Xyla's eyes. After her gaze lingered for a moment on the lipstick stain, Xyla turned to look at Emily's red lips. Without saying a word, Xyla proceeded to walk upstairs directly.

Right then, Jeremy Quest walked down the stairs excitedly. When he saw Xyla, he immediately hastened his footsteps to approach her and slapped her on her shoulder. "Xyla, you did amazing today. You made me very proud. A lot of my friends even called me on the phone to give you compliments."

When May and Emily heard Jeremy's compliments, they felt even more jealous. They both felt the urge to tear Xyla apart right then.

"Dad, you speak too highly of me." Xyla chuckled.

"Since you've performed this well, you can take over the general manager's role at the company headquarters' sales department once the units in this property development are sold out," Jeremy added.

When Emily heard this, she immediately stood up. “Dad, aren’t you being unfair? Up until now, I still haven’t been able to step foot into the company. On the other hand, Xyla has merely accomplished a small feat, and you have already decided to let her move into the headquarters. You have even offered her the important position of general manager of the sales department.”

“I’ve told you before that you will have nothing to do with my company. I told you to forget about it. Don’t you understand?”

“Also, do you think what your sister accomplished is a small feat? Why don’t you show me that you are capable of doing the same thing?”

“Apart from being jealous of your sister and embarrassing me, what else are you capable of? Didn’t you say that you would broadcast yourself doing a headstand if your sister manages to sell half of the units?”

“Hurry up and do it. Why are you still making so much noise here? You are extremely annoying,” Jeremy said mercilessly.

Right then, Emily was speechless.

In the face of Jeremy’s increasingly harsh words, Emily felt as if she would start crying soon.

Now, Emily could feel as if Jeremy no longer loved her at all because of the way he treated her.

Ever since Xyla returned , her Dad had changed ! Dad did not use to be like this!

“When are you going to broadcast yourself doing a handstand? Please inform me. I would like to see it.”
Xyla chuckled playfully.

At that moment , Emily felt the urge to insult Xyla. However, she had neither the courage nor the power to do so. Despite the anger she was feeling, she had to keep it to herself.

While Emily’s face turned red, her hands clenched tightly into fists.

Sensing things were going awry, May quickly stepped forward and pulled Emily behind her protectively . “ Alright, darling, don’t be angry. Emily is still a child.”
