

Chapter 638 Identify

Yolanda seemed unhinged, a side effect of the drug she had taken.

Liam felt nauseous at the sight. It was disgusting.

Wearing a solemn expression, he found the drug's impact worse than he'd ever imagined. Unable to stomach it any longer, he kicked Yolanda away with his foot.

"I'm getting you into rehab, and don't hope I will want to have anything with you."

When she heard this, Yolanda's irritation flared.

"Really, Liam? So now you're washing your hands of me? Do you have any idea how I ended up here? I've been treated like a slave, degraded, stripped of my humanity!"

"I wouldn't know. It's not my concern," Liam retorted, his brow furrowed.

Yolanda snarled back, "Not your concern? Your enemy knew I was your ex-wife and brought me here just to get back at you. How ridiculous! Still think this has nothing to do with you?"

Yolanda snarled back, "Not your concern? Your enemy knew I was your ex-wife and brought me here just to get back at you. How ridiculous! Still think this has nothing to do with you?"

Caught off guard, Liam hadn't seen this twist coming.

He never thought he'd accidentally put Yolanda in harm's way.

After a long silence, he opened his mouth as if to speak, but then thought better of it. Instead, he resumed his impassive demeanor.

His focus was now solely on rescuing Julie. Everyone else didn't matter!

Gathering his composure, Liam instructed Yusuf, "Take her and Black Fiend back to Dark Night Organization's base. When the plane from the mainland arrives, have them transfer her to a mainland rehab center."

Yusuf nodded in agreement, hoisting Black Fiend in preparation to leave with Yolanda.

Resigned but defiant, Yolanda could only glare at Liam as she yelled, "Liam, I hate you!"

Liam remained silent. Once Yusuf had taken them away, he scoured the Flower Club for any evidence or hints about the Black Spider. Despite his efforts, he came up empty-handed.

A look of dejection clouded Liam's face, forcing him to exit the Flower Club.

When Yusuf wrapped up his affairs, he extended an invitation to Liam for a drink. Something about the situation had piqued his curiosity.

Feeling down himself, Liam accepted Yusuf's offer. His foul mood was largely tied to Yolanda but even more so, his concern was for Julie.

Because the Black Spider had targeted Yolanda due to her connection to him, Liam feared Julie might meet a similar fate.

Engulfed in their separate thoughts, they drank on. Soon enough, Liam was drunk. He broke the silence, asking Yusuf, "Are you wondering who I really am?"

Yusuf nodded. The incidents at the Flower Club weighed heavily on him, making the man before him seem increasingly enigmatic. He was eager for answers.

Not holding back this time, Liam revealed, "I'm Liam Hoffman, King of the Dark Night Organization and the heir of the Hoffman family in Invone. I ventured here solely to rescue my abducted fiancée from the Black Spider. Javen is merely an alias."

Yusuf's eyes practically popped out of his head.

He'd suspected Liam was more than he seemed, but to learn he was the heir to the Hoffman family was beyond his imagination.

Realizing his identity should remain a secret, Yusuf felt a twinge of relief as he scanned the surroundings and found them alone.

Yusuf whispered, "You've had too much to drink. Let's call it a night. I'll get you back to your place."

He then escorted Liam back for some rest.

Once Liam's true identity was out, the dynamic between them shifted dramatically. Yusuf had a lot to mull over, but ultimately, he reached a conclusion.

Regardless of who Liam was, he was a good friend to Yusuf.
