

Chapter 798 Last Warning

Liam continued walking, oblivious to the shouts behind him, carrying Asher.

Casper's humiliation surged into fury as he snatched up a vase, hurling it at Liam, aiming for Asher nestled on Liam's back.

Upon hearing the commotion, Liam effortlessly sidestepped the vase, causing it to crash in front of him. The potential consequences of it hitting his child were too dire to contemplate.

Liam's joyful demeanor faded slightly as he gently set Asher down, patting his head. "Asher, I'm a bit tired. Can you play with mommy for a while?"

Asher obediently nodded, rushing into Julie's arms.

With that, Liam swiftly initiated an attack.

From a distance, Casper noticed Liam's slight movement. But in a blink of an eye, Liam closed the distance and aimed a punch at him.

Casper was taken aback, feeling the force behind Liam's fist, yet the speed left him no time to react.

As his fist neared Casper's face, Liam swiftly extended his fingers, transforming his hand into a claw-like grip, seizing Casper by the neck and raising him off the floor.

The vice-like grip tightened around Casper's neck like a clamp.

Within a few seconds, Casper's face reddened.

With a menacing stare, Liam issued a flat warning.

"This is the last time. If you ever attempt to harm my son again, I will wipe out your entire family!"

After his proclamation, Liam flung Casper back into the alley.

At the moment, Roy's mother arrived and happened to see the scene. She was so frightened. She rushed and helped Casper up.

Due to the oxygen deprivation, Casper couldn't help but cough violently for a while. Once he regained his senses, Liam and his family were nowhere to be seen.

In that moment, resentment filled his eyes as he muttered fiercely, "Damn it! How dare you threaten me? I will surely make your family pay for this!"

By the time Liam, Julie, and Asher reached home, evening had descended. To their astonishment, Yesenia had prepared dinner, a surprise given her past reluctance to assist with such tasks.

Liam was taken aback.

Previously, Yesenia had been lethargic, refusing to engage in household chores.

Liam hadn't anticipated this change in her behavior.

Upon noticing their return, Yesenia said, "Julie, Asher, come here and have dinner."

Facing three individuals, Yesenia missed out Liam's name. Unperturbed, Liam seated himself at the table, holding Asher in his arms.

In a taunting tone, Yesenia said, "I didn't set out chopsticks for someone who doesn't belong here."

Upon hearing this, Asher handed his chopsticks to Liam and said, "Daddy, you can use mine."

Grateful yet guilt-ridden, Liam refrained from arguing with Yesenia. For the sake of his son, he didn't want to engage in discord with his son's nominal grandmother.

Attempting to reason with Yesenia, Julie interjected, "Mom, Liam has finally returned. We're family. Can't you find a way to get along with him?"

However, Yesenia slammed the table in agitation and yelled furiously, "Get along with him? Why? For the past five years, he didn't care about us. Now that he's back, he suddenly wants to be Asher's father. There's
