

Chapter 809 Villa Dilemma Discussion

Upon hearing this, Casper burst into laughter without holding back. "Do you even know the price of a villa? A villa costs at least eighty million, and it's not just about having the money. You wouldn't be able to buy it even if you had all the money. You're ignorant yet strangely arrogant!"

Facing Casper's mockery, Liam remained silent but steadily closed in on Casper.

Remembering Liam had hit him before, Casper got scared and instinctively stepped back. Panicking, he asked, "What are you planning to do? Don't act recklessly!"

At that instant, Liam stood face-to-face with Casper. He made a subtle gesture, causing Casper to flinch back in fear. However, Liam didn't act further.

Observing Casper's fearful expression, Liam scoffed with contempt.

Unwilling to waste more time on Casper, Liam turned to Casper's men. "Move everything to Pearl Company. Handle it with care. You know the consequences if anything got damaged."

Under Liam's stern gaze, the men proceeded cautiously, transferring the items to Pearl Company.

With the temporary crisis averted, Liam and Julie began sorting through the packed furniture at Pearl Company.

Yesenia, who had maintained her silence for her reputation, couldn't resist blaming Liam. "This is all your fault. You're a jinx. Thanks to you, we're now homeless. We wouldn't be in this mess if you hadn't returned and stirred up trouble."

Ignoring Yesenia's complaints, Liam focused on the task at hand.

Attempting to find a solution, Yesenia turned to Julie and suggested, "Julie, given the circumstances, let's buy a house. It doesn't have to be extravagant, just enough for you, Asher, and me."

The implication was clear. Yesenia didn't want Liam in their living arrangement and was trying to drive him away.

Julie didn't delve into the specifics of Yesenia's words. She nodded slowly and conceded, "That seems like our only option."

Despite the Pearl Company not having regained strength, they could afford a modest house.

Julie, however, worried about Asher's education. If they hastily bought a small house, where would Asher study?

At this moment, neither Yesenia nor Julie took Liam's desire to buy a villa seriously. They believed he was only trying to assert his dignity before Casper.

Seeing their concern, Liam explained, "Didn't I say we could buy another villa? Even for Asher's sake, we can't just pick any house. Julie, take some time to choose a villa, and I'll cover the expenses."

Yesenia immediately sneered at Liam, "You're still pretending, Liam. I didn't expose you before, but do you think you can really afford it?"

Julie had found Liam's actions beyond her expectations since his return. So she didn't know if she should trust Liam's words.

She sensed Liam might have the means to do so but found it hard to believe, given the downfall of the Hoffman family and Liam's five-year absence.

Tentatively, Julie asked, "Liam, are you seeking help from some influential person again? It's not wise to always rely on others."

Caught off guard, Liam struggled to respond. There were many things he couldn't disclose to Julie at this point. Faced with her doubts, he remained silent.

Taking Liam's silence as confirmation, Julie sighed and continued, "It's okay. We don't need Asher to attend Hawthorn Kindergarten. He's intelligent. Even in an ordinary school, he'll have a bright future."

Liam understood that Julie's words stemmed from a sense of helplessness. Furthermore, he had the means to provide his son with the best education. He asserted, "No, Asher will attend the best school. Julie, trust me, getting a villa is not a problem. Let's go and buy it now." Naturalise georgia.
