

Chapter 823 Unexpected Entrance

Casper was taken aback. He knew the Murray family's guards wouldn't usually make errors like this, suggesting that the card he obtained from the black market might indeed be fake.

He found himself in a dilemma. Trying to maintain composure as he asked, "This can't be right. Could there be a mistake?"

The guard, visibly impatient, threw Casper's card to the ground and yelled, "Do you think I don't know what the real invitation card looks like? Leave, or we'll take action!"

Suddenly, more guards appeared, all aiming their guns at Casper.

In that moment, fear and helplessness consumed Casper.

The Cortez family had flourished in recent years but paled in comparison to the Murray family, Salem's wealthiest family.

Faced with the guards' pressure, Casper reluctantly stepped back.

The spectacle drew attention, making Casper and his family the subject of ridicule at the event.

"I warned you about the fake invitation, but you wouldn't listen. Now that it's exposed, you'll have to leave in embarrassment," Liam taunted.

Embarrassed and angered by the situation, Casper said, "Don't gloat. If I couldn't enter, how could you?"

"If we couldn't, why would we bother coming here?" Liam replied coldly.

Liam checked his watch and assumed Bowen had likely resolved the issue. Turning to Julie and Asher, he said, "Let's enter together."

Concerned, Yesenia rushed forward, stopping Julie. She said coldly to Liam, "What are you doing? Can't you see what just happened to Casper? You don't even have an invitation. I won't make a fool of myself!"

Worried, Julie said softly, "Liam, let it go. It's not worth offending the Murray family over this."

Undeterred, Liam reassured Julie, "Trust me, Julie. We'll get in."

Seeing Liam's confidence, Julie suspected he might have sought help again.

Recalling past events, she nodded and said, "Okay."

Let's try."

She then added, "Liam, rely on yourself in the future. Don't rely too much on your connections."

Liam felt momentarily lost in thought, but then a smile spread across his face. He knew that Julie had misconstrued something. However, he chose not to address it immediately, deciding to leave it be for now. He'll clarify things later if needed.

He glanced at Yesenia. Despite her continued disdainful attitude towards him, she still trailed along behind them.

Casper's family prepared to mock Liam and his family, but their amusement turned to shock as the guards took the initiative to clear a path for Liam as he approached.

What just happened? Liam didn't even have an invitation!

Amid Casper's astonishment, Liam confidently strode into the hall with his family.
