

Chapter 932 The Police Came

On receiving Yesenia's phone call, Liam and Julie immediately rushed home.

At home, they found Yesenia sitting on the sofa. Asher had also been picked up and was playing by himself a little distance away.

Yesenia was clutching her medical report, her face devoid of any color and her eyes clouded with despair.

Julie went to her and took the report from her hand. She quickly scanned it and saw that it indeed confirmed the AIDS diagnosis.

Alarmed, she anxiously asked, "Mom, what did the doctor say about this?"

Yesenia's eyes turned misty, and she tearfully replied, "I don't have much time left!"

She pulled out a few bank cards from her pocket. Regret and sorrow filled her eyes.

"This illness is incurable, and I won't waste money on its treatment! Julie, you've endured so much over the years, and as your mother, I've failed to help you. All my savings are in these cards. It's not much, but please accept them. If you want to be with Liam, I won't stop you. I just want the both of you to live happily!"

Asher, who was playing nearby, was completely clueless about what was going on. He innocently asked Yesenia, "Grandma, why are you crying? Dad says crying doesn't solve any problem."

Liam lifted Asher into his arms in an effort to distract him.

Meanwhile, Julie said in a frantic voice, "Mom, what are you saying? You haven't even tried to get any treatment yet. How do you know this disease is incurable? Liam has amazing medical skills. He'll definitely be able to cure you. Am I right, Liam?"

Liam peeked at Yesenia. He had indeed cured AIDS patients in the past, and now that he had a better understanding of the Source Energy application, he was naturally more confident.

However, instead of assuring them, he said, "AIDS is a terminal disease. Currently, it has no cure. The latest medical advancements can only extend the patient's life."

He wasn't sure if Yesenia's remorse was genuine. He was only willing to treat her once he was convinced she was being truthful.

Liam's lack of assurance instantly made Julie depressed.

No matter how horrible Yesenia had been to her, she was still her only living family.

With this in mind, Julie thrust the bank cards back into Yesenia's hand and comfortingly said, "Mom, don't give up now! I'll admit you to a hospital right away. The Pearl company is in much better shape now. We won't fall short of money for your treatment!"

Yesenia and Julie held each other and sobbed while Liam stood silent, unsure of Yesenia's sincerity.

At that moment, the doorbell rang.

Asher jumped out of Liam's arms and darted forward to open the door.

He found two armed police officers at the threshold. Their expressions were grim as they announced, "Liam, you're under suspicion of causing intentional harm. Please come with us!"
