

Chapter 943 Rumors

Liam stared at Benedict coldly. He knew that Benedict was the one who had called these reporters.

Liam snorted in disdain. "Who are you? How dare you claim to be a member of the Hoffman family? You have been a loser for more than ten years. You played every trick in the book on me to reclaim your fragile dignity. Well, in my eyes, you were and will always remain a loser!"

Benedict was livid. Liam had poked him right where it hurt.

He couldn't stand being insulted. "Where are the security guards? Come here! This jerk is making trouble at Kingland Group. Why aren't you guys taking action?" he shouted.

The security team was within earshot, but no one came over.

Vincenzo, the head of security, was on duty today.

He had heard what Liam had said in the staff hall just moments ago. And Vincenzo had a change of heart.

So, he ignored Benedict's orders. Instead, he walked over to Liam and stood beside him to show his support!

The Kingland Group's security team was trained by Vincenzo. They wouldn't dare to offend their leader, but they were also scared to go against Benedict. They were in a dilemma.

Benedict was shocked to see this.

"You bastards! Why are you still standing there? Vincenzo, you traitor! Why don't you arrest Liam? Why are you still hesitating? Fuck you! I'll fire all of you!" he threatened angrily.

The security guards looked at each other worriedly, but no one did anything.

Benedict was furious now. He marched to one of the security guards and kicked him.

"Son of a bitch! The Kingland Group pays your salary. But you guys are ungrateful and useless! Fuck you all! You will face the consequences of your betrayal. Don't come begging to me for mercy afterward! I'm going to kill you guys!" he cursed.

The security guards were terrified, but they just stood there helplessly.

Vincenzo stepped forward and spoke. "Guys, see this? Benedict doesn't care about us! Only Liam treats us well! Why don't we leave the Kingland Group? What are we waiting for?"

The guards made up their minds after hearing Vincenzo's speech.

His words had the desired effect on the security guards!

They stepped forward and said to Liam, "Mr. Hoffman, we will work for you from now on!"

Liam smiled satisfactorily and replied, "Okay. Here's your first task. Get rid of these annoying reporters!"

Vincenzo and the security guards acted immediately and drove the reporters away.

There was no one surrounding Liam now. He stepped toward Benedict and slapped him so hard that Benedict tumbled to the ground.

"If you don't know how to respect people, I'll teach you how! Benedict, five years ago, you were like a slimy reptile. And today, even after you gained power, you're still the same creep! Tonight, I will show you what real despair is!" Liam said.

Then, he called, "Vincenzo! Let's go!"

Benedict's face was swollen. He lay on the ground watching Liam leave.

"Liam, you arrogant son of a bitch! Carsen's support has made you an insufferable ass. Just wait and see. I will destroy you!" he shouted.

Benedict looked at the reporters and got an idea.

"You guys should print a story on Liam, exposing his pettiness! Everyone in Salem should know that he is a useless man. He is a loser who earns his livelihood by selling his wife's body! If you all do this article well, I will pay two hundred thousand dollars per person!" he announced.