Chapter 171

August just rushed back to the company from a meeting and did not expect to see such a scene as soon as he returned.

He asked Burton to stop the car and just watched them from a distance.

He was puzzled why Lucia was always cold to him, but this time was smiling gently at Paul.

Just then, Burton suddenly spoke up, "Mr.Adams, Miss Mitchell is gone."

August frowned at Lucia who was walking with a quick light step, indicating she was in a good mood.

When he noticed the folder in her hand, he immediately said to Burton, "Go and figure out later what the folder was that Paul gave to Lucia."

Burton answered, "Okay."

It seemed that Lucia still didn't know that Paul was the president of Cloud Technology and Lion Group and Cloud Technology both were competitive in a certain business, thus Lucia would be misunderstood if she met Paul frequently.

Not long after August returned to President's Office, Mary came over to report on the next trip.

Recently, August was busy with all kinds of social engagements.

After simply dealing with the urgent affairs of the company, he had to rush out for another social engagement.

Chapter 172

Just as she was lost in thought, the sound of footsteps outside got closer and closer, and suddenly, the door of the room was pushed open and a tall figure appeared in the doorway.

Lucia froze, her back stiffened, and when she raised her head, she saw August standing there with a serious face, looking at her in a stern way.

Stunned, Lucia asked, "What are you doing here?"

Seeing the woman's eyes flash with panic, August sulkily pursed his lips and said in a deep voice, "To inspect my employee's work."

Then, he paid no attention to her expression, striding to her desk.

The pair of deep eyes sharply swept across her desk, and his gaze finally rested on a folder on the right corner of the table.

Lucia followed his gaze.

She panicked.

Before she could react, August had already stretched out his long hand and picked up the folder and flipped it.

Lucia's heart tightened.

That was a contract Paul Thomas had given her, which needed to be translated.

If August found out that she was secretly taking an outside job, the consequence could be severe.

After all, there was an explicit rule that employees were not allowed to take other jobs outside of the company.

Now she put the document in broad daylight, she was afraid...

Before Lucia had time to imagine the consequence, the boss had already raised his head, his thin lips pressed tightly together, and a thin layer of anger appeared in his eyes.

The man raised his hand, holding the document, stared into her eyes and asked, "What is this?"

Lucia's hands that were holding together couldn't help but tighten.

Her gaze began to drift.

What should she say? Admit directly that it was another job she had secretly taken? Yet, something didn't seem right.

She had been working overtime for several days, but he picked the day when she just got the folder to inspect.

More coincidentally, he made a beeline to this folder, as if he had already known it.

With a sharp breath, she came to her senses.

for a long while, she finally mustered the courage to look up at the man's cold eyes and uttered dryly, "This is a contract for

Blunt words came out of his mouth just like that.

Lucia was ashamed and annoyed, along with aroused.

She panted roughly, "You are shameless!"

Upon her flustered look, August deliberately pressed toward her body, making their bodies closer.

He looked down at her.

"Your body is honest."

With that, his finger went one inch deeper.

Lucia's eyes widened and she couldn't suppress her moan.

In an instant, her face blushed.

Biting her lip, bashful and annoyed, she twisted her body, "Let go of me! Let Go!"

Being treated like this, she felt like she was being roasted on the fire.

With no way out, she was ashamed to the extreme! But no matter how she struggled, even punching and kicking, for August, it was like a cat's scratching, which brought a hot urge down to the lower part of his body.

"Shameless bastard!"

Lucia cursed, but August grinned instead.

He looked at the woman's face, which was red with anger, and leaned in without saying a word.

The dense kisses fell, brushing her cheeks, blocking her lips, turning all her complaints into moans.

The temperature in the office was getting warmer and warmer.

Lucia only felt like she was under his spell.

Slowly, her brain was out of her control, and her hands unconsciously hooked on August's neck, her body gently trembling with the action...

After a long time, when all the impulses faded, Lucia's body went soft, leaning in front of the table, breathing in and out.

"Got it.

She smiled at Emma and said,"

Okay, let's go."

On the way to the staff canteen, Emma babbled on and on about all kinds of gossip in the company.

Lucia was not interested, but she didn't want to be the wet blanket, so she said yes now and then to reply to her.

"Lucia, do you notice messages in the chat group unconnected with the intranet? It is said President Adams' girlfriend is here today."

Lucia was mind-wandering.

On hearing "President Adams", she suddenly snapped out of it and asked unconsciously, "What did you say?"

Emma's eyes lighten up and repeated it excitedly,"

I said President Adams' girlfriend is in our company now and I heard she is a gorgeous girl."

Lucia took a deep breath and she was not certain who the girl was.

His girlfriend, maybe it was Jeanne.

Though August maybe also dated other women, Jeanne should be the most special and precious one for him, otherwise, he wouldn't have married her in order to get a suitable kidney for Jeanne.

Gritting her teeth, Lucia tried to throw this thought out of the window for she didn't want to overthink, so she pulled Emma and said, "Emma, let's hurry up.

I am hungry."

Last night she was determined to keep her distance from August, so her mind shouldn't be full of these things about him.

However, things always went against her wishes.

The more you didn't want to think about it, the further the reality went that way.

When Lucia and Emma just went out of the staff canteen, they saw several people heading toward them, and the ones in front were a charming woman and a handsome man, who looked like a beautiful view, attracting all the eyes.

They seemed an ideal couple.

Yes, they were August and Jeanne.

Lucia entered the director's office, worried, and knocked on the door, "Carter."

Carter was running over files at the desk.

Noticing Lucia was in, she looked up a little and said,"

Close the door and sit down."

Sitting on the chair, Lucia saw there was nothing unusual on Carter's face and she wondered why Carter made her here.

With the usual look, Carter softly said to her, "Lucia, do you know the Boehm?"

Boehm? This name sounded a little familiar.

After thinking for a while, she remembered,"

Is it a subsidiary of Lion Group?"

"Exactly.

In recent two years, this company focused on smart homes and their products were hot in Astros City.

Recently they will hold an off-line event for promoting the new products.

The Group attached importance to this event, so we planned to pick some excellent staff, from the administration department and marketing department, to do it."

On these words, Lucia's eyes popped with surprise.

It sounded like a good thing...

Carters stopped for a while and continued, "In our administration department, I plan to assign you to do it.

If it is successful, you will get a generous bonus.

You could decide if you want to go after consideration."

This good news made Lucia a little surprised.

She never expected such a good thing could fall on her, in addition, she made mistakes a few days ago.

Carter picked her, which was totally unexpected.

With a little hesitation, she couldn't help asking,"

Carter, do you really choose me?"

Seeing her confused expression, Carter smiled and asked back, "Do you think you can manage it?"

After a pause, Lucia's eyes glowed with excitement answering immediately,"

Yes, I can."

Thinking of that, Irene became angrier and angrier.

She asked, clenching her teeth, "Is it the subsidiary of Lion Group, Boehm Technology Company, which will hold the offline event?"

Lisa replied at once, "Yes, I heard the new products are smart homes."

"Well, I know."

After figuring out the situation, Irene said with a cold expression,

Go to find the relevant documents, and I will not stand by and let the bitch become more and more arrogant!"

"But Irene..."

Lisa pretended to be reluctant,"

Could we let it go? After all, Lucia is so crafty that I am afraid you would fall into her trap like last time..."

Her words made Irene angrier,"

There is no need to concern yourself with this matter.

I already figure out what to do.

If you still regard me as your friend, just help me to look for the relevant documents."

Unconsciously Lisa smiled quietly, and after a pause, looking like she was hesitating, she agreed with her reluctantly,"

Of course, you are my friend.

Actually, I also dislike her.

I will go looking for the documents, but..."

When she hesitated, Irene immediately realized her meaning and said,"

Don't worry, I will keep it a secret."

Hearing Irene's promise, Lisa agreed, "Irene, no problem, I'm on it."

Then they talked for a while and hung up the phone.

After the phone, Lisa stood at the desk, looking out of the window.

A touch of deadly coldness flashed in her eyes and an evil smile appeared on her mouth.

In her position, if she revenged on Lucia, she was afraid August } would not let her off in case she was found, but if Irene did it instead of her, it would be better.

Even if she didn't do it herself, there was someone who could end Lucia's good day.

Suddenly a big hand reached her and held her shoulders to support her.

Lucia came to herself at once and before looking up, she was used to saying, "Thank you..."

When she looked up at the person helping her, unexpectedly she saw a familiar face.

It was August.

Lucia sharply became gloomy and tried to stand well by herself, unconsciously stepping back a little.

Seeing her reaction, August's poker face became sullen with her brow frowning involuntarily.

When watching she almost fell down, he kindly rushed to help her to her feet, but he didn't expect to see her reaction like that.

This annoyed him and he deliberately spoke with thin lips in a more indifferent voice, "Since you didn't sleep well, don't come to work, or others will have a mistake that I'm a demanding boss."

His words made Lucia's embarrassment and panic dissipate a lot.

With clenched teeth, she stepped back a little and replied, "Don't worry, President Adams.

I know I'm in good health.

You are overthinking."

Then she turned around and left there without hesitation.

However, she was in such a hurry that when she abruptly turned around, her head felt so heavy and sudden dizziness almost made her fall down again.

What's wrong? Lucia felt ill and she couldn't see clearly with her woozy head.

She hurriedly put her hand against the wall to support herself and took a deep breath to make herself feel better, after a long while, it finally worked.

August watched her, suddenly getting angry, then without hesitation, strode to her and asked, "What's wrong with you?"

Time and time again, she almost fell down, so something must happen to her.

Hearing his question, Lucia took a deep breath, clenching her teeth,"

I'm fine.

President Adams, don't bother worrying me."

How stubborn she was.

August got furious, frowning.

Though August comforted himself by this thought, he still felt the anger was stuck in his heart and couldn't be released out.

He frowned with an aura of aggressive chill.

At this time, there came a knocking on the door.

Then he heard Burton's voice,"

President Adams."

The door was pushed open and Burton strode in with a serious face.

He came to August and said in a low voice, "President Adams, I got a call from Bob just now.

He said Bishop wanted to meet you."

Without any hesitation, August rejected it with a cold voice, "No."

Bishop and he both knew clearly how bad their relationship was, so it was unnecessary to pretend as the intimate brothers now and then.

Burton hesitated a while and continued, "Bob said Bishop would tell you some important information about Ted."

On hearing this name, August's eyes became hard.

After a pause, he asked in a cold voice,"

Where shall we meet?"

"The Copper-Cuppa."

After hesitation for two seconds, August changed his idea.

With his tensed back and pressed lips he opened the mouth indifferently, "Tell him I agree."

He didn't want to miss any information about Ted.

Until he audited the subsidiary's accounts, he came to learn how many dirty businesses Ted had done under the table in the name of Lion Group.

He couldn't feel easy without catching Ted.

"Get it."

Burton nodded and went to drive the car at once.

Standing by the window of the reception room, August had a panoramic view of Austos City's south part through the glass, unconsciously losing in the memory of years ago.

After Lucia and Lyan submitted their first planning case, they have made several modifications, and eventually the final draft was decided.

The day before the offline event, they went to the spot to supervise the building of stage and exhibition area.

After bustling around for a day, the staff felt a little relieved and the tense atmosphere became a little relaxed.

"Lucia, come to have some coffee."

Lyan bought several cups of coffee from the Starbucks nearby, shared them with the busy staff, and handed one of them to Lucia.

Lucia smiled at her and gently said thanks.

Then she turned around to look at the built stage and asked softly, "Didn't we invite a star to warm up this show? Who is it?"

Tomorrow the event would start.

It was important to her whether the event was successful or not, which related to the generous bonus and her future opportunities.

All of them was what she cared.

Lyan followed her gaze to the banner which said"

Mystery guest"

and whispered to her,"

I hear it is the female star Adeline, our company's old partner."

Hearing this familiar name, Lucia was a little shocked.

She thought of the arrogant and aloof woman who she met in August's office last time.

It was her, unexpectedly and reasonably.

She was so intimate with August, so it was natural to invite her attend this event.

On thinking of all of this, Lucia felt a little jealous and mocked herself.

Lyan noticed that and then asked, "What's the matter?"

"Nothing."

Lucia soon recovered to reply casually.

August and she had no relationship anymore, so why did she think so much? She might as well focus on her work.

"Lucia, will you eat something first."

The voice made her come to herself and she turned to Lyan and shook her head,"

I have no appetite."

Though she woke up early in the morning without eating anything and busy around here half a day, she didn't feel hungry at all, perhaps because of nervousness.

Lyan patted her shoulder and advised her kindly,"

Lucia, it is not worth sacrificing your health for the work."

Lucia hesitated for a while, nodded to her with a smile and said softly, "OK, I will go eat something.

Call me if anything happens."

"No problem.

Just go.

There is food prepared for us in the van behind the exhibition area."

Lucia looked up, saw the van far away, and strode to it after nodding.

When she walked near, a colleague came to her and asked, "Lucia, which do you want, bread or fried bread stick?"

Lucia smiled, "Bread, please."

The colleague passed her two pieces of bread and a cup of hot soybean milk.

Lucia took them and said thanks.

In this spare moment she took out her phone and read Paula's messages.

"Lucia, I'm deadly bored.

When could I see you?"

"The rehearsal is so boring.

And I want to eat crab pot."

Looking at the long line of messages from Paula, Lucia almost could imagine her expression through the messages.

She smiled unconsciously and sent a message back to her with a piece of bread in her mouth, "We could have dinner together after the event today."

As soon as sending it, she immediately received Paula's message, "Yeah, it's great and I want to drink beer."

Lucia sent a message back with a smile.

And like that, they chatted for a while.
