Chapter 371 Jeanne's Visit

The director also did not expect Lucia to suddenly come over with a serious look to talk about this, he hurriedly got up and said, "Come, Lucia. Here, have some water."

"Our side still recognizes your ability, but President Adams just wants to make the quality a little better. We all work together, we all understand each other, we can talk about this, right?"

Lucia smiled, took a deep breath, and still insisted, "Time waits for no one, I will cooperate on my side, but if it drags on for too long, then we will have to wait for the next time we work together."

With that, she turned around and took a step in the direction of where Timothy and Janet were.

The things that Lucia decided on could not be changed easily.

The longer the time delay, the greater the possibility of unknown events, she did not dare to gamble.

Moreover, she could not afford to gamble.

Lucia didn't know if it was because of her words that the two sets of photos taken that day were not rejected after the director sent them to August.

The next day, the director informed Lucia that the samples had been approved and the shooting could begin officially.

Lucia stood in the shooting site, looking at the two little ones coping with the shooting perfectly, she subconsciously felt happy for them as well.

She never expected them to earn much money for her, she just wanted them to experience more and grow up faster.

For three days in a row, the shooting progressed well, in addition to that, what surprised Lucia was that August did not appear at all on the shooting site during the past three days.

This was indeed something that she was most happy about.

However, unexpectedly, someone who Lucia didn't expect appeared at the shooting site.

The time was just after two o'clock in the afternoon, the weather was still very hot, Timothy and Janet had just finished a set of photos.

They were resting to cool off, suddenly a car slowly came and parked next to the shooting site.

Soon, the front door opened, a bodyguard-like man stepped out of the car, walked to the back row and pulled open the door. He even held an umbrella.

For a moment, the crowd's eyes were all looking in that direction.

A woman wearing a long black ruffled dress got off, her face was blocked, and her delicate figure could be seen vaguely.

Jeanne's tone wasn't sharp, but her words seemed to be very meaningful. Those words were more like a warning, a sarcastic comment and rebuke.

It was quite obvious to Lucia.

Jeanne was trying to make her feel bad.

Jeanne was trying to hint that Lucia was destroying another man's family and was being a mistress.

Lucia frowned, her voice deepened slightly, she looked firmly at Jeanne and said, "Ms. Kelly don't worry, I have my own family, I have my own things to guard, I won't be as unaware as you say. Moreover, even if you don't warn me, I don't want to have anything to do with him anyway."

"Is that so?"

Jeanne's face suddenly turned a little colder, and she pointedly looked at Lucia.

"Are you thinking that I don't know about your meeting with August?"

Lucia frowned and was about to speak, who knew that Jeanne had already continued, "I hope you won't ruin my marriage, since you also don't want to have anything to do with him, then this job should be canceled, and I will pay for the breach of contract."

Her voice was a bit cold, and her superior appearance was like that of a giver.

Lucia looked at her, her heart inexplicably welled up with anger. She had never been the type to be irresponsible, and if she broke her contract, not only would she have no professional ethics, but she would also be setting a bad example for Timothy and Janet, and she didn't want that.

She gritted her teeth, raised her eyes to look at Jeanne, and said in a firm tone, "That won't be necessary, I will finish my work properly, but I can guarantee that I won't have anything to do with August outside of work again, please be rest assured."

After saying that, Lucia stood up, turned around and walked away, towards the direction of Timothy and Janet over there.

The matter had come to this point, there was no need for her to continue talking with Jeanne.

Lucia was only afraid that if she continued, she would not be able to resist a fight with Jeanne.

Jeanne sat where she was, raised her head to look at Lucia's receding figure.

Coldness flashed in her eyes.

She was determined that one day, she would make Lucia pay! Ten minutes later, Jeanne chatted with the director and left the shooting site.

Lucia raised her head and looked at the car that was slowly driving away, and her guard was slowly lowered.

However, instead of feeling guilty and uncomfortable, August raised his eyebrows at Lucia with a smile.

Lucia froze for a moment and got angrier.She strode forward and pulled the children back.She asked August seriously, "Mr.Adams, how could you take them away without telling me?"

Before August could say anything, one of the children said, "Mom, it's not Mr.Adams' fault.I asked him to bring us here."

Lucia looked down and saw Janet looking up at her.

Janet said seriously, "Mom, it's true.You can ask Timothy."

Lucia frowned and turned to look at Timothy.

To her surprise, Timothy also nodded seriously and said, "Mom, it's true."

Lucia didn't know what to say.

How could she blame August since both children blamed themselves? She took a deep breath, pulled them closer, and said in a soft voice, "It's getting late.We should go home.I told you not to go to the haunted house or you'd have nightmares, didn't I?"

Timothy grabbed the corner of her coat and said with pleading eyes, "But mom, we really want to go.I can protect Janet inside!"

Lucia looked at Janet who was also looking at her with pleading eyes.She didn't know what to say.

Suddenly, a melodious male voice said, "They've never been there.They should go and feel it."

Lucia looked up and met August's bright eyes.

Before she could say anything, he added, "Since you're here, why don't you join them? They'll be so happy."

"Yes, mom!"

"Mom, please!"

Lucia wavered. She didn't want to expose the children to something bloody, but since they were so curious, she didn't want to keep refusing them.

Lucia was listening intently to August when the man suddenly jumped out from the corner. He was dressed in white.

His long, dark hair covering his face contrasted with his hollow, red eyes...

Lucia screamed and subconsciously dodged.

Suddenly, she hit a strong chest. She was so scared that she wrapped her arms around the person's waist without looking up.

"Ah! Stay away from me!"

Her heart kept pounding and she subconsciously tightened her grip.

Suddenly, a strong arm was put on her shoulder and patted her back.

"It's okay," August said in a low, soft voice.

Lucia stiffened and looked up quickly.

When she saw August's handsome face before her eyes, she felt her blood turn cold and her brain turn blank.

August was amused by her stunned look.

"You've scared the ghost away. Aren't you letting go of me?"

Lucia let go at once, pushed him away, and took a few steps back.

"Mom, are you okay?"

"Mom..."

Hearing the two children's voices, Lucia calmed down. She took their hands and blushed when she looked up at August again.

Chapter 375 Meeting Jonathan again

On the way back with Timothy and Janet, Lucia didn't say anything with a gloomy face.

The two children were terrified.

They didn't know what was going on and were afraid to say anything in the car.

Finally, Timothy couldn't help but ask tentatively, "Mom, don't you like us to play with Mr. Adams?"

Lucia didn't answer and Timothy added, "We won't meet with him anymore."

Janet also lowered her head sadly and said, "Me either..."

Lucia looked in the rearview mirror and saw both children bowing their heads sadly. Her heart softened.

"I'm just mad at you for not telling me where you went. Do you know how worried I was when [ couldn't find you?"

Timothy sobbed and whispered, "I see, mom, we were wrong."

Watching them sob, Lucia said helplessly, "Well, don't do that again, okay?"

"Okay, mom!"

Lucia saw their happy faces in the rearview mirror and gave a smile.

The two children were her joy.

She wouldn't be happy without them.

Lucia pulled up in front of West Bridge and turned her head while putting on the parking brake.

"You have the day off tomorrow. I'll take you anywhere you want."

"I want to draw at home!"

"I want to watch TV..."

Lucia shook her head helplessly.

The children had been to the safari park and Pleasant Valley in the past two days.

They didn't want to go anywhere else anytime soon.

Lucia smiled.

Jonathan raised his chin with a smile and snorted, "Or what? Who do you think it is?"

Lucia was stunned.

After a moment, she turned to look at her car outside the window, and a trace of doubt flashed in her mind. She didn't believe that it was so coincidental.

How could they run into each other in this narrow alley? She said, "The car just now..."

Hearing this, Jonathan laughed out loud, and a sly look flashed in his eyes. He winked at her and said, "Don't worry. I don't need you to compensate me!"

With that, he turned his head, looked at the bodyguard standing outside the car door, and instructed, "You drive her car to the 4S shop to repair the scratches."

When the bodyguard heard this, he immediately nodded, stretched out his hand, and closed the door directly.

Then the driver started the car and drove forward as if he had been instructed.

Lucia hadn't expected it at all. She turned to Jonathan and asked in confusion, "Where are you taking me?"

"We haven't seen each other for so many years, so naturally it's time for us to catch up."

Jonathan smiled at her ambiguously.

Lucia was somehow flustered. She was surprised that someone like Jonathan could still remember her after five years.

Seeing the car speeding forward, Lucia felt a little flustered, "Jonathan, are you crazy? If your fans see us, they would kill me."

Jonathan disagreed, turned his head, and smiled at her, "Don't worry. I'll take you to a quiet place."

Seeing him say such words with this expression, Lucia shivered and got goosebumps in her arms.

Why did it sound so awkward? Soon, the car drove out of the alley and sped along the main road.

Lucia knew that even if she cried and clamored to get off the car, it would be too late.

After adjusting her mood, she slowly calmed down.

When Jonathan saw this, he was a little surprised.

He leaned on the backrest, stared at her delicate profile, and squinted slightly, "You have changed a lot in the past few years."

Compared to the stubborn girl Lucia had been before, she was now a little more elegant, mature, and feminine.

Hearing his words, Lucia frowned slightly and didn't speak for a long time.

"I'm afraid I can't."

Lucia took a deep breath and said, "I won't stay in the country for too long.Maybe I'll leave next month."

With that, she raised her eyes to look at Jonathan and saw a flash of disappointment in his eyes.

They looked at each other, and neither of them said a word.

After being silent for a long time, Jonathan lowered his head and suddenly said, "Is it because of August?"

Lucia's heart sank when she heard this name and nodded slowly.

Seeing this, Jonathan looked a little serious and said, "If you need any help, just tell me."

Hearing this, Lucia felt warm and nodded at him.

After they talked, it seemed all the barriers between them were eliminated.

They talked about other topics at the same time, chatting for more than an hour.

Seeing that it was getting late, Lucia proposed to leave.

They walked out of the box one after the other.

"Well, when you're nominated for the best actor, don't forget me."

"Of course. Don't regret not being my agent then!"

The two were talking and laughing while walking.

As they were about to walk through the corridor to the stairs, they saw two tall figures approach.

Lucia inadvertently looked over.

When she saw their faces clearly, she stopped suddenly.

He tapped the table, and said, "August, what's the matter with you today? When we talk about August frowned, tugged at the bow tie around his neck, and frowned, "We'll talk about that list at the

Joshua raised his eyebrows, gave him a deep look, and finally couldn't help but say, "Is it because of Lucia?"

Before August could speak, he continued, "After you saw her with that Jonathan just now, you haven't looked right!"

"Are you attracted by her?"

Hearing Joshua's questions, August frowned even more tightly.

After a moment, he finally let go, looked up at him, and said, "I don't know what's wrong with me."

"August, take it easy.

Now it's not the time to think about a romantic relationship.

At least, it will have to wait until Mr.Denko is caught.' Joshua's words were like a wake-up call, and August suddenly became serious.

Finally, he said solemnly, "I see."

Five years ago, he had lost to Mr.Denko.

Now, he must not make the same mistake again.

The next day, for Lucia, was another day for work.

As long as Timothy and Janet were going to shoot, she would inevitably have to get up early.

After preparing everything, Lucia looked at the two yawning children and couldn't help asking, "You two, what's the matter? Didn't you sleep well last night? Timothy and Janet looked at each other, but neither of them spoke.

Seeing that it was not right, Lucia quickly asked, "You two, do you have some little secret?"

Janet quickly shook her head and said, "No..."

Timothy quickly said, "We just had a meeting and talked about homework."

Lucia doubted, "Really?"

Seeing the two children nod at the same time, Lucia couldn't help but smile.

She patted them on the head and said, "Okay, hurry up and grab your schoolbags and get to the car."

Chapter 379 Nothing Serious Director Brook said seriously, "Lucia, don't get upset.

I'll definitely give you and Janet an explanation!"

Lucia's heart ached.

She took a deep breath and shook her head at Director Brook without saying anything.

She just walked away, put her arm around Timothy, and stared at the clock outside the emergency room.

There was no way she could calm her racing heart.

She would blame herself for the rest of her life if anything really happened to Janet! All she could do now was to wait.

After a long time, there were hurried footsteps and then Director Brook and the staff were in an uproar.

Lucia didn't turn around, but she heard the people behind her call "Mr.Adams".

A low voice soon said behind her, "Lucia."

Lucia still stared at the door of the emergency room.

August was upset.

He clenched his fists slowly and walked towards Director Brook directly.

"Come with me."

Then he walked with a gloomy face to the exit in the corner.

A little flustered, Director Brook followed him and asked, "Mr.Adams, you..."

Before he could finish, August suddenly turned around, grabbed him by the collar, and pinned him against the wall.

He grabbed too hard that blue veins stood out of the back of his hands.

Director Brook's face turned pale.

"Mr..."

August yelled in anger, "What did I tell you?"

Director Brook shivered with fear and said quickly, "Take care of...

Chapter 380 Finding Him The director's words sent a chill right down Lucia's spine.

Who would be so vicious as to hurt a child? Lucia's knees went weak and she almost fell, but she quickly regained her composure, took a deep breath, and subconsciously clenched her fists.

She wouldn't allow anyone to hurt Timothy and Janet! They were her weakness and her bottom line! She had been weak and cowardly before, but now she had to find that person to protect her children! She gritted her teeth, took a deep breath, and said to Director Brook, "Something is definitely wrong.

I want to investigate it!"

Director Brook glanced up at August, who didn't say anything, and then he immediately nodded at Lucia in agreement, "Okay! We must look into it! I won't allow someone that vicious to stay on my team!"

Lucia took a deep breath, gritted her teeth, and said firmly, "I want to investigate all the people on the set today, especially those who have touched the snake cage!"

Her firm tone surprised everyone.

They were uncomfortable, but no one dared to say anything.

Whoever refused at this point was the most suspicious person! Lucia clenched her fists and added, "Director Brook, please call in everyone who has been to the set today.

I want to ask them one by one."

Before Director Brook could say anything, Pollard suddenly said, "I don't think we can call in everyone.

Some of them are temps and wont come back again..."

Lucia frowned.

Temps...

Suddenly, she thought of something.

If it had been prearranged, the murderer had probably entered the set as a temp because he would be able to leave no trace! Lucia asked Pollard with a frown, "Do you have any information on the temps today?"

Maybe it would be faster if they started with the temps.

Pollard nodded.

didn't trust anyone except that Janet was in the hospital,

when she saw Lucia

"Lucia..."
