

Submit 451

Chapter 451 He Had No time to Commit the Crime

She said with obvious determination and detachment. With a cold light in her eyes, she turned red in the face with anger.

At this, August went furious without saying the words that came to his lips, and the doubts in his heart slowly dissipated at that moment.

So, Lucia rejected him and the Adams family so much.

He tightened his brow, and before he could say anything, Laicia had already taken a step and left in a big stride. As he watched the woman walk away resolutely, a complex emotion welled up in August's heart and he felt an inexplicable tightness in his chest. When his phone rang, he slowly came back to his senses.

Taking out his phone, he saw that it was a call from the attendant beside his grandma, and after a moment's hesitation, he pressed the answer button, "Hello, um, I'm already here."

Walking out of the men's store, he walked down the corridor for a while, then through the planetarium to the Cloud Pavilion. When he reached the door, he saw Olivia sitting on the couch, looking despondent. He took a deep breath and stepped forward, "Grandma."

Hearing the sound, Olivia looked up, and when she saw him, her eyes burst into light, "You are here!" August slightly curled his lips, and softened his voice, "Grandma, have you tried on the clothes yet?" Olivia shook her head, reached for his hand, and spoke, "August, I just met two little kids that look a lot like you when you were a kid. Do you think I want to have a great-grandson so much that I dream about it?" August was surprised when he heard this, and after a few seconds, he asked, "They look like me when I was a kid?"

Olivia nodded with certainty, "Yes, their eyebrows are exactly the same as yours!"

At once, August felt a mixture of emotions. With the faces of Timothy, Janet swept through his mind, he was silent and did not speak.

Timothy and Janet were Lucia and Paul's children, but why would Grandma say they looked like him? Moreover, it was he who took Janet's hair to the hospital identification department for a paternity test, and the identification report would not be wrong because he was at the door all the time.

At this point, Olivia suddenly spoke, raised her hand, and gently patted the back of his hand, "August, when will you give me a great-grandson?"

August

will be good news to spread, all the bad luck of the company will dissipate." With that, his grandma looked at him deeply and politely by his grandma. He could not refute her, so he responded, in a serious tone, "It's good and you know I'm not well. Don't let me wait too few moments of small talk before she was accompanied Olivia to buy the clothes and had dinner together a media platform sent out news that August accompanied Olivia for shopping and dinner, that the two were close about August, and with Olivia coming back, even some shareholders project with a foreign remarkable achievements, there was no way to cover up what happened before, and everyone was waiting for him to explain, while August was also calm and

Office of room was pushed open, and Burton walked in quickly. With a somewhat serious look on his face, he handed over the document in his hand and spoke, "This is the was in his bar. He entered the bar in the morning, did not go out until the the bar. If this was the case, Joshua had spent almost went on to report, "The records of his other men

The more he looked, the more somber his face became.

of them, Joshua and his best men, had traceable whereabouts, perfectly avoiding the time of the crime.

In other words, on the surface, Lucia's too perfect as if pen in his hand, and his mind raced through a few moments of thought, he looked up at Burton, "The surveillance outside the bar cannot explain not, and I frowned slightly and he and Joshua were comrades who fought side by side, friends. who