

Submit 452

Chapter 452 They Turn Against Each Other

August looked like he was smiling, yet not smiling, "Suspect? No."

"I'm just trying to figure out a few things and need you to give me a copy of the surveillance in the bar that day."

With that, he took out a silver USB drive and put it on the desktop.

At once, with Joshua's face somber, he frowned, "August, what do you mean? Do you think it was me who kidnapped her?"

Looking up, August looked straight at him and said seriously, "I told you I just want to figure something out." Joshua frowned and met his dark eyes, with the emotions under his eyes changing rapidly and obscurely. After a moment, Joshua moved his lips and asked, "What do you want to prove?"

With his expression unchanged, August said word by word, "Prove that the person who kidnapped Lucia that day was not you.

Joshua's reaction just now had already made him inadvertently confirm certain suspicions in his heart.

As soon as August finished speaking, Joshua's face turned a little somber, "August, you have been blinded by that woman!"

August interrupted him and increased his voice tone, "Joshua, you should not hide anything from me." Joshua was usually big-hearted, but as long as he had promised something, he would definitely have it done. August asked Joshua to send someone to protect Lucia, but Lucia was still kidnapped, and his excuse was that he gave his men a vacation that day, but Joshua would not make such a low-level mistake!

In addition to that, the card with different material from the previous ones was enough to prove that the person who kidnapped Lucia this time was not Mr. Denko, but another group of people.

Finally, he had someone go through the whereabouts of Joshua and his men that day, all with perfect alibis.

Behaving too perfectly was exactly what was most suspicious.

Now, he asked Joshua for surveillance in the bar that day, but Joshua refused to cooperate at all, which was finally confirming his suspicions.

men confronted by looking at each other, and after a few moments, August averted his gaze and said. in a deep voice, "If I'm right, this was what you had planned all along. You deliberately came to the bar that morning to let eventually made his way to the fresco at the far end of the wine cellar. He raised his hand and knocked the wall, ringing apparently empty. With a fumble, he finally found an extremely inconspicuous raised button on the he pressed, the wall made a sound of "ding" and a he guessed correctly that there was indeed a secret door already thought over the construction of the bar and finally guessed that slowly turned around and coldly, "Since you have guessed it, why are you with a somewhat stern gaze, "Why I don't want to watch her ruin you! If it wasn't for her, how icy aura emanating from him, "Joshua, I've always treated you like my friend, as hid anything from Joshua, but unexpectedly he would my friend! So, I can't He reached out his hand, clutching August's wrist, and said flashed under August's eyes. He frowned, feeling depressed, "Joshua, if the in his eyes, "So, you're going to seconds, three seconds, and finally, with a moment of complex emotions passing under his eyes, he let go of a step and walked out of the bang, and Joshua stood still for a moment, then suddenly laughed out loud. thought that he and August would have did it for August's sake, but he didn't appreciate it at all!

August was dead or alive had nothing to do with him!
bar, with a somber this, Burton hurriedly opened his mouth to ask, "President Adams, did you did not reply, just coldly saying