

Submit 453

Chapter 453 There Would Be No Place for Her!

At that word, the maid respectfully took a step back, made way for Jeanne, and said softly, "Mrs. Adams, go in

Jeanne clenched her two hands together in some panic, and then nodded and stepped inside,

Olivia slightly turned her head sideways and said in a deep voice, "Come here, and kneel down."

When Jeanne heard this, her face suddenly turned pale. She wanted to know the reason but did not dare to ask more, so she had to obediently go forward and kneel down on the futon next to Olivia.

After that, Olivia continued to pluck the string of beads in her hands, without any further instructions. Jeanne knelt there, not daring to move or ask. Until her knees were a bit numb, she gritted her teeth and turned her head to ask, "Grandma, if there is something I had done wrong, you can directly say to me..." Without opening her eyes, Olivia said word for word, "I told you to kneel to let you make an introspection. Do you need me to tell you what you've done wrong?"

When Jeanne heard the words, she sucked in a cold breath and her face suddenly turned pale. Even though she was discontented, she still had to swallow her anger and could not show it.

Jeanne's knees were sore and numb after half an hour of kneeling, and she shifted her weight from side to side, screaming inwardly.

Just then, Olivia suddenly stood up and slowly walked to the chair next to her to sit down, with her somber gaze falling on Jeanne.

Jeanne finally couldn't help herself and said, "Grandma, I really don't know what I've done wrong."

Olivia frowned, and after a pause, she said in a cold voice, "You have been married to August for almost three years, but you still can't hold August's heart and don't birth to a child for the Adams family, all of which I am not willing to say in front of the old ancestors anymore."

Olivia said it directly, and instantly, Jeanne's face turned blue and then red, just like a palette.

have no feelings, but you insist on holding on to this marriage. As a woman, I understand your hardships and difficulties, but as a wife, you are not good enough! You often go to the company to cause trouble, and also to add to the chaos of the Lion Group at the most chaotic time. Do you think I don't know these things if others was old, but her words were a shudder, Jeanne unconsciously clenched her fist.

Olivia to know everything! Could it be that there were her spies in the dare to show it. She bit her lower lip, weeping, and sadly expressed her loyalty, "Grandma, I was too concerned about August, and I never wanted to cause trouble for the company. In fact, I went to the company to find Olivia snorted, "You still don't know why your Kelly family has become what

Kelly family has been taking advantage looked up at Olivia aggrievedly, "Grandma, I know I've done wrong and I'm willing to be punished. I will definitely remember heard this, Olivia's eyebrows knitted slightly and she stared at Jeanne for a long time she was actually opposed to it, but because she wanted to live a happy life in her old age distant. Although she was not always at home, she could know that the marriage between them only existed no matter what, as long as August didn't say anything, she wouldn't say anything. Except for the occasional teaching and questioning, she couldn't do she took a deep breath and said in a deep voice, "All right, eyes lit up, Jeanne immediately got up, but her knees had long been numb, words that came to her lips and looked away from her. With a slightly somber look on her face, Jeanne pulled out a hard, embarrassed smile and slowly stood up, take to heart everything you told me today. Don't worry, and I won't let you down." Olivia looked to one side she reached the door, she saw the steps forward and before she could take two steps, she heard Olivia's voice coming come in her fifties, with a kind face. She was polite to everyone, yet a bit distant and cold, which obviously showed that she was someone and turned her head just in time to see Fay striding into bent down and rubbed the knees of both legs, muttering secretly, "Old woman! Made me kind of grievance before, and she didn't expect that when set her up in such a way, which really made her feel angry. She was about to go downstairs when she suddenly realized that she had left her cell phone