

Submit 458

Chapter 458 Give Her a "Gift"

Lucia stood aside while looking at the two men fighting with each other. Feeling inexplicably anxious, she took a deep breath and stepped forward to block Paul. Afterward, she looked at Burton and said, "Go back first. Paula doesn't want to see you. You will just cause more commotion."

Her voice echoed, and everyone went silent.

It seemed that because of her words, Burton's complexion changed slightly. In the end, he said nothing. He nodded slightly at Lucia and turned his head to look deeply at Paula on the bed through the transparent glass. Afterward, he took a step forward and left.

When he went far and Lucia couldn't see his back anymore, she gently pulled Paul's arm and asked, "How is the investigation?"

Hearing her voice, Paul returned to his senses. His face remained serious as he replied, "All the surveillance has been artificially erased. It's clean. You can't see a single thing in there."

Lucia was surprised, "What?"

Originally, she thought that as long as they start with the surveillance at the intersection, they would be able to take pictures of the people in the car clearly and the murderer would be caught. But she didn't expect that.

Lucia took a deep breath. "Who has such great power?"

If he could wipe out all the surveillance cameras on the road to hide the murderer, he must have a great amount of power and connection.

If the murderer was Jeanne, then the only person who could cover for her was one person.

Lucia frowned, her heart sank heavily.

If it's him...

"They found out the owner of the car. The owner said that his car keys got lost a few days ago. The car was stolen. The police have found it in the suburbs of Austos. It was driven by someone else. It was parked in a nearby pond and submerged for a few days. It was scrapped, and there was no trace of valid fingerprints or physical evidence in the car." Hearing this, Lucia's body became a little colder. She took a deep breath and uttered, "So, all the clues are cut off just like that?"

If the murderer couldn't be found, all their efforts would be in vain. Not to mention that Paula was still lying on the hospital bed and they didn't know when she would wake up.

avenged. They couldn't allow and suddenly thought of something. Before Paul could speak, she

Paul frowned. "What?"

and

to find clues. Since all the clues were wiped out, she could try to she would show something. If it's not her, then she won't lose anything seeing Lucia's thoughts, Paul frowned.

isn't guilty of anything, then she has nothing to frowned. He was hesitant about her idea. "I don't trust you to go a lunatic with no bottom line! If Lucia would come to her door on her own, Paul would not dare think of what her teeth "But Paul, we have no other choice right now."

said coldly. "You can go, half a second and nodded. "Okay"

still lying in bed and hadn't woken up, how could she just stay still and let Jeanne free?

would look for Jeanne three days later. That day, the a ribbon-cutting ceremony and Jeanne would attend. Furthermore, August was also

if Jeanne

she was going to prepare a huge time, Burton left the hospital and returned home in a trance along got home and finished dealing with the back to heart was dull and hesitant for a he rushed to the company and arrived at the president's office. When he opened the door, August was out of habit, and only when Burton got closer did he notice his brows slightly frowned as he asked, "What happened to remained low-key, but now that he asked him this question, he frowned and answered without a frowned

caused by fists? Not to mention that he could sense that spread out in his hand, put it heavily on the table, and said solemnly. "Let's talk."

After hesitating for a moment,