Chapter 461

At that moment, Lucia was like a hedgehog with spikes all over her body and every word she spoke was full of anger

In short, she had taken him as an enemy.

August frowned, remembered something else, and asked, "By the way, about Paula Thomas.."

"It's none of your business." After saying that, Lucia walked away coldly.

Now, in her opinion, August was Jeanne's husband, so he would cover up her crimes. What's more, he might have been her powerful protector. So she wouldn't have any expectations for him and even was a little prejudiced and resentful of him out of her hatred and blame for Jeanne.

The light in August's eyes darkened slightly Looking at the woman's back, he became more and more confused

The sudden appearance of her at the ribbon-cutting ceremony, the woman who had been arranged to be here, and Jeanne, who had just returned from the bathroom with a frightened face, all these things joined together, showing him something.

He turned around, passed through the hall, and returned to the door.

Everyone outside was still talking and laughing as if nothing had happened.

August walked up to Jeanne, pulled her to a quiet place, and asked, "Jean, have you done anything recently?"

Jeanne had not yet recovered from the panic When she heard August's question, she answered nervously, "August, what do you mean?"

August stared at her with complex expressions in his eyes and said in a flat voice, "Nothing, don't worry"

Jeanne broke into a sweat. Before she could say anything, Martin had already sent someone over to tell them to cut the ribbon

The ceremony had been delayed because of those unexpected situations. Now that Martin had controlled the situation, the ceremony would continue as planned

Jeanne quickly glanced at August, who was full of worries and quickly reached out to hold his arm She said nonchalantly,

"August, let's cut the ribbon."

'Sure'
