

Submit 467

Chapter 467 The perpetrator was caught

Hearing Paul's words, Lucia felt nervous immediately. She listened carefully to their conversation Soon, Paul hung up the phone He was a little surprised and turned to look at Lucia The police said the perpetrator who hit Paula went to the police station and turned himself in."

Lucia felt also surprised. They left the hospital and went to the police department immediately

Lucia saw Officer Rogers standing outside when they reached the police department gate. Officer Rogers explained the situation to them as he was leading them into the police department "The perpetrator's name is Hallie Bruns, 28 years old, with previous convictions for theft. This morning she came to the police department and surrendered, then she told us where the abandoned vehicle was. Finally, our officers found her DNA in that car"

Hearing that, Lucia felt like she was listening to a stranger's story. She finally saw the woman with a sallow face sitting in a cell until she was led to the holding cell at the police department

The woman had long hair and was dressed in shabby clothes She lowered her head and was afraid

Officer Rogers said to Lucia and Paul, "She is Hallie Bruns."

Lucia took a deep breath and couldn't accept it. In her opinion, the criminal suspect was Jeanne, not the woman in front of her whom she had never met before.

Paul didn't believe it either. He frowned and asked scrupulously, "I remember that you said you didn't find the DNA in the car before."

Not only did the police check that before, but he also sent Gin to check it. The result was the same The car was clean It looked like the car was cleaned up by someone, leaving no evidence Officer Rogers nodded. "Yes, but she said she accidentally scratched her hand while driving that day. We sent someone to double-check. Then we collected the residual blood on the inside of the steering wheel and tested the DNA"

Looking at the women in the holding cell, Lucia still didn't believe it. She took a deep breath and asked, "Then why would she hit Paula? We don't know her at all."

Officer Rogers said, "She said she stole that car and was going to sell it. Then she accidentally hit Paula because she was not familiar with driving and confused the gas pedal with the brake. After that, she fled because she was scared, and then she was getting scared when she thought of it, so she came here and turned herself in."

Hearing that, Lucia denied it subconsciously. "It's not like that!"

was intact and it all makes sense. But she conspiracy, a premeditation, and more, a murder! And this that was that this woman strode to the door of the holding cell and looked at the woman in it, asking loudly, "Hallie Bruns. were you instructed by someone? Or were you threatened by someone?"

"No. I did it. I hit her. I didn't mean didn't finally find me wherever I flee to. I feel so scared, so I came here to turn myself in. I hit that woman, but the bars tightly, but she felt there was nothing she could do about a woman who turned herself in, and the evidence was overwhelming. It means that the case was about to end. But there believed that the real killer was someone sent them to the gate. Lucia looked at Paul after Officer his head and frowned tightly. "No."

Lucia clenched her fist. That woman was possible for her to do so. After all, she was so malicious that she didn't care if others live or die said coldly, "Since the police can't find the real killer, we'll do her head and looked into Paul's cold eyes. She was a little nervous.

that, Paul turned to look at Lucia and changed his expression back to normal, saying softly, "Leave it to me You think much of it and nodded her head few days, they would leave Austos City for abroad. So in these last few days, the to take care of business while she went to the nearby mall decided to leave the country in haste, and she didn't even have time she was suddenly taking Timothy and Janet away, they might not be couldn't delay it because Paula's situation was not good now There was nothing she could do about it.

She could only make it up to went to the men's section to choose clothes years she had known Paul, she hadn't seemed to buy him