

Submit 469

Chapter 469 Needed a nurse

The fish who bit the bait was another one

In the hospital, according to what Bram said, Lucia was dealing with helping Paula get transferred to the hospital. Because Paula was going to be transferred to private hospitals in foreign countries, the hospital transfer procedures were complicated.

About more than half an hour later, Lucia was only halfway through the hospital transfer procedures. With a lot of lists in her hand, she turned around and ran straight into a person.

The lists in her hands were scattered all over the floor. Lucia apologized and crouched down to pick them up.

"Lucia?"

Hearing the familiar voice, Lucia looked up and saw a pretty face.

She felt surprised. "Mandy?"

She didn't expect that they were meeting in the hospital again.

Mandy smiled at her and asked, "What a coincidence! What are you doing here in the hospital?"

Lucia sorrowed. "My friend was hospitalized."

"Well." Mandy helped Lucia pick up the lists on the floor. She glanced at them and her expression turned a little serious.

She looked at Lucia. "Brain cell damage from a car accident?"

"Yes." Lucia took a deep breath. "My friend didn't wake up after the car accident. So we found a hospital in a foreign country and we are going to transfer her to that hospital."

Hearing that, Mandy felt sorry for that. She asked, "What hospital are you going to?"

Lucia didn't think much of it and told Mandy the name of the hospital.

Hearing that, Mandy nodded her head. "That hospital is quite famous. But make sure your friend's health is in good condition on the way to the foreign country, because I've heard before about sudden accidents in transit causing more damage to patients."

Lucia was startled and worried.

She remembered what Paul said he would ask.

Lucia looked at Mandy nervously. "Then.. Mandy, what do you recommend that you bring a nurse with you to her head. "You are right.."

Lucia stayed with them, he couldn't stay by Paula's side the whole time. The best way was to for her to find a reliable nurse to take care of Paula when they were about to in front of her and

Mandy was a little surprised.

if I have

a

I inconvenience

afraid that I need to explain the situation to our nurse

a great favor if you are willing to go there so many years, it will hurt the relationship between us if you say something like

long as it's the matter about you, I am willing to help

in her eyes She held Mandy's hand tightly and said

you really want to thank me, then invite me that, Lucia laughed.

each other and laughed, chatting for a while. Mandy didn't leave until it and sent Paul a message after she had done all the hospital transfer procedures "Paul, to keep Paula vibrated. She received the message from Paul

one more message,

She shivered and looked at the door. She was startled and stood up immediately when she saw August standing at the door.

you doing here?"

saw August standing at the door of the ward where Paula was the hospital bed. Then she walked to the door was pushed out of the ward by Lucia frowned. She looked at August's expression and

Paul