

Submit 473

Chapter 473 Rot in Jail

Halle's words stunned Lucia dumb

She had wished to dig something out of Hallie by mentioning the woman's family, but it turned out that Hafke was orphan

That will not work!

But Lucia didn't want to give up She wouldn't return empty-handed. She tried to convince Hallie with reasons, with emotional appeals, and even with threats. However, none worked.

The visiting time was coming to an end.

Before she left, she looked back at the sallow-faced woman and couldn't help trembling in anger However, she couldn't do anything except watching the police take her away.

She had planned to extract information from Hallie since she couldn't get any clues from Jeanne However, Jeanne's plan was so watertight that she couldn't find any flaws that could allow her to obtain any useful information

Lucia felt a sense of powerlessness Clock was ticking as the time to send Paula abroad for treatment was approaching Once they left, it would only be more difficult for them to continue the investigation when they could return home after Paula recovered.

I don't want to give up! I can't give up!

Lucia felt downhearted when she came out of the visiting room When she wanted to say "thank you" to Officer Rogers, she suddenly found a man standing by a corridor window not far away.

She could only see the man's back. The suit set off his perfect V-shape body, which exuded an extraordinary aura:

Lucia's heart skipped a beat

She recognized the man merely by looking at his back. He was August!

What on earth is he doing here?

Before she could figure it out, August and Officer Rogers had turned to her direction When they saw her, they were both surprised Soon, Officer Rogers said smilingly. "It seems that you've finished your visit desire to speak was smothered when she saw August's bright eyes. She then lowered time

really popular

words

also came for Hallie! Is he looking into it? He also

Lucia braced surprised. "Ms. Mitchell, you go in together? I will just by her words. "That won't

She turned to August and at each other, both with complicated feelings. Lucia wanted to plead him, but she just couldn't utter her pleads. She gritted her teeth and to Officer Rogers. "Let her come gaze through August and Lucia and he finally said, "Since you've said so, I waved his hand, "Go overjoyed and thanked might have unexpected discoveries for being room with Lucia. Hallie was sitting on the same chair, head lowered. Her hair covered most of her face and said coldly, "Hallie Bruns, I'll give you one chance faint sneer as she

to both mild and severe measures during her turn to investigate this woman.

could make this woman speak so easily?

expected, Hallie remained silent.

back of his chair in a leisure manner, and continued, "Speak it out. It's good to yourself I'll finished speaking, dead silence occupied the room. One minute, two minutes, wall was moving slowly. The atmosphere in the room was frighteningly oppressive. Lucia stood aside and looked at August as he idly sat there.

he thinking? What can he get from "Time is up. It seems that you are still unwilling to confess. Covering up crimes for a stranger, don't you shudder. She looked up in panic and shock "What.

less

that she was orphan? Where does that sister come