

Submit 474

Chapter 474 Trust Him Again

Ive told you just now, haven't I?"

August loosened his grip on the photo and let what was remained burn and drop to the ground with the ashes. He then flicked the ashes between his fingers. He didn't even cast Hallie a glance.

Then, he took out his phone and seemed to be dialing a number. Then, he put the phone to his ear and ordered, "It's about time. Do it..."

Hallie's panicked voice interrupted him. She sprang to her feet and shouted emotionally, "What... what the hell do you want! She never did anything to you"

"But you did something to me. Covering up crimes for the guilty. You know what you have committed? You, as a criminal yourself, are not in the position to judge me."

August's words rendered Hallie wordless.

After pondering, Hallie asked, "Can you really ensure my sister's and my safety?"

August said, "I am a man of honor."

Hallie hesitated after hearing what August had said. She clenched her fists and said, "I came to take the blame for another person.. I really need that money for my sister. I have no other way. That man told me that as long as I go to jail for a woman, he will pay for all the medical and living expenses that my sister will need in the future... I had no other choice... August looked at Hallie sharply His idleness was nowhere to be seen. "Who is the man?"

"I don't know either We've only contacted each other through phone. Hallie shook her head, apparently panicked, "He threatened me that if I dare to let it slip, he will make me pay. What should I do!"

August frowned and remained silent for a long while At last, he said heavily, "I will keep you safe. I'll also send my men to your sister"

Hearing this, Hallie showed delight in her eyes She thanked August repeatedly, "Thanks.. thank you!"

August nodded to Hallie in silence. Though he had known that Hallie wasn't the murderer, he hadn't found any information of whomever was behind Hallie. It was still difficult for them to find out the truth

Lucia had known that Hallie was innocent. However, Hallie's innocence couldn't help prove the true murderer's guilt. Therefore, they were again stuck August stood up and was to leave Lucia also heaved a sigh and followed him. Unexpectedly, Hallie suddenly shouted, "Wait"" unison, and Hallie hesitantly said, "In fact, I kept a recording for fear that the man eat his words and refuse to pay for my sister I recorded a part

"Where is

my belongings The police had them Password is six zeros

Hallie's belongs from Officer Rogers As expected, he found turned on the phone and found a

August and also felt nervous. She looked August press the play button.

you can pay the medical

Hallie's

worry You should know that we're people who dare to ask you to defy the law For our kind, we won't fuss over several coins or find troubles for ourselves After the lawsuit is settled, we will pay the medical expenses every three months We will voice was somewhat familiar to the owner of the voice, but she memories of the voice, August had said solemnly, "Mark

Lucia suddenly realized

is indeed Mark Page.

with August. They both confirmed their guesses.

recording was Mark, they

was an unexpected finding as well as a major deep breath and calm herself down, Since it was Mark who asked Hallie to be the scapegoat, it would be easy to guess the person behind all these. The only person to whom Mark had wanted to speak her conclusion out. However, when she realized

Jeanne, August might still do

Lucia felt a little disappointed. However, the silence was broken by his question. The man's eyes were clear and showed mocking word, "It had been very clear, Lucia. I also have my up and asked, "So, who do you

"I won't speak it out until his words, Lucia sneered and felt